Vietminh Dealt Major Setback in Indochina

Rebels Halted In 6-Day Duel For Fortress

Bitter Battle Dwindles Into Artillery Match; Communists Regroup

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — French guns from the United States and Chinese-supplied Vietminh artillery dueled at long range today across the barbed wire of Dien Bien Phu as the defenders of the big French fortress in northwest Indochina awaited more violent rebel assaults.

With clear, sunny weather the French also unleashed the full fury of their air power on the Communist-led rebels artillery posts and troops massed around the heavily fortified plain. In their sixth day of constant attack, the French still were confident they would win a major victory.

Reds Hold Off Attack

Latest word from the battleground plain six miles long and four miles wide said the rebels still had not resumed the frontal assaults by thousands of screaming fanatic warriors which so far had been unable to penetrate the barbed wire ringed, bunkered heart of the fortress.

Though the French expected a resumption of the rebel charges momentarily, the Vietminh since yesterday had steered shy of the mad, wave-on-wave rushes which had strewn the battlefield and barbed wire with an estimated 3,000 rebel dead and 9,000 wounded—equivalent of a full division.

From land and aircraft carrier bases American-supplied Hellcats, Bearcats, Privateers and B26 bombers roared over Dien Bien Phu to paste the rebels.

Reinforcements Arrive

Other transports continued to parachute reinforcement troops and war material to the French in the heart of the plain.

The French conceded their own losses were "appreciable", but released no figures. The garrison force includes Frenchmen, Foreign Legionnaires, Algerians, Moroccans, Vietnamese and Thai tribesmen.

The French made ready for more furious assaults with the possibility that Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the Communist commander of the Vietminh army, would shortly try to crush French resistance by throwing in all of the 36,000 troops it is estimated he has left in the hills and jungles around Dien Bien Phu.

GROUNDED SPACE CADET. Kenneth Patrick Ward, 4, an adventurous space cadet whose flight ended in the arms of a passing high school girl, turns on the charm for his rescuer. Marilyn Schroth, 16, saw the fledgling flier Kenneth poised on the kitchen window ledge of his Brooklyn home and dashed 50 yards in time to catch him as he dropped toward the pavement from the second floor apartment. The boy's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Ward, looks on at the hospital where Kenneth was found shaken, but unhurt, in New York.

Merchants Study Plan

Bus Line Proposal Wins Support Here

A proposal that Marion businessmen help a new bus company to get a start here received the unanimous support of a group of 25 merchants Wednesday.

The help would be in the form of purchase of $50 worth of bus tokens a day.

THE PROPOSAL, made by Chester E. Baker, president of the Springfield City Lines, Inc., who hopes to start a new bus line in Marion, will be submitted to the entire membership of the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce for approval, as a result of yesterday's action.

The plan is to have each participating merchant purchase a part of the $50 total in proportion to his volume of business. The daily cost to some would be as little as 17 cents a day and the highest would be no more than $2.75, according to Jack Lautenslager, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who was charged with figuring out the proportionate share to be borne by each businessman.

If approved by the other members of the Retail Merchants Division, the plan would be in effect for a 90-day trial period.

THE BUS COMPANY president believes his losses would amount to about $100 a day, until the volume of bus riders is built up.

He said his company is willing to risk a $50 a day loss if the businessmen will help out by covering the other $50 through purchase of tokens.

The proposal was discussed in the Chamber of Commerce offices Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of businessmen called by Lautenslager. The proposal had been made by Baker at a morning meeting in Mayor Harold F. Robinson's office.

BAKER SUGGESTED the bus tokens purchased by the merchants could be used by them as promotional advertising. That is the individual merchant could give tokens to their customers either with the purchase of a certain amount, or by any other method they might choose, Baker said.

Baker also said that the plan need not continue for the entire 90-day trial period if at anytime the bus company begins to earn as much or more than its expenses.

At the meeting in the Chamber offices, this proposal was explained to the businessmen who had not been able to attend the morning meeting.

Following the explanation, the group discussed what would

Republicans Given Edge in Tax Struggle

House Democrats Set On Last-Ditch Drive For Additional Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans apparently held a slim and shifting margin of votes today against a Democratic drive for an additional $2,400,000 annual income tax cut.

Key Democrats, conceding the odds were now against them, planned a last-ditch fight for their proposal to increase income tax exemptions for each taxpayer and each dependent by $100.

Seek Rider on Bill

They are battling to tack that proposal onto a general tax revision bill now before the House. The bill would overhaul almost all tax laws and provide $1,397,000,000 in revenue cuts next year through many more liberal deductions for businesses and individuals.

Republican leaders stuck firmly to a prediction that the move to boost exemptions would be beaten in a showdown roll-call vote late today. President Eisenhower strongly opposes an exemption increase, terming it a political maneuver.

Both sides said there was no doubt the big, 875-page general revision bill would pass, although some Democrats bitterly attacked parts of it.

Rep. Presist (D-Tenn), acting Democratic whip, forecast a very close decision on the exemption increase but conceded "the odds have shifted toward the Republicans. I'd say if there's any advantage at all it's more on their side." The House has 219 Republicans, 215 Democrats and 1 independent.

Expect To Lose

Two Democrats on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, who are in the thick of the fight, said privately they expect Democrats to lose the battle over exemptions. But they said the party would press the issue in the Senate and in congressional election campaigns this fall.

In five hours of heated debate yesterday, Democrats hammered away at their theme that the GOP-sponsored revision program is loaded with huge benefits for corporations and wealthy stockholders with only scattered and light relief for the great majority of people in lower income brackets.

They insisted the exemption increase is vital to make the tax program fair to all, and to help increase consumer buying power and pull the nation out of the current economic dip.

Favoritism Denied

Republicans denied favoritism in the revision program and said all taxpayers would benefit. They said the revenue loss from the proposed exemption increase would "utterly destroy the government's financial stability."

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey took up verbal cudgels for the Eisenhower administration's tax program in a letter to House Speaker Martin (R-Mass). He said:

"I feel as strongly as I can that it is in the long run interests of the American people that this bill be enacted substantially in its present form."

He especially defended a part of the revision program which would reduce taxes on dividends received by stockholders. The Democratic amendment, in addition to increasing exemptions, would knock the dividend tax cut out of the bill.

Humphrey said both major political parties "have for almost 20 years recognized the unfairness of double taxation of dividends."

Wyandot Agent Gets Ohio Post

Cashman Is Assistant Agriculture Director

UPPER SANDUSKY—Sam Cashman, Wyandot County agricultural extension agent since 1946, today accepted an appointment as the assistant director of agriculture of Ohio, in charge of state fair work. The appointment was announced by A. L. Sornsen, state director of agriculture.

The appointment will be effective April 1. Cashman has requested a nine months' leave of absence as Wyandot County agent, subject to the approval of the Ohio State University board of trustees. W. W. Wharton, the associate agent, will serve as acting agent during Cashman's leave.

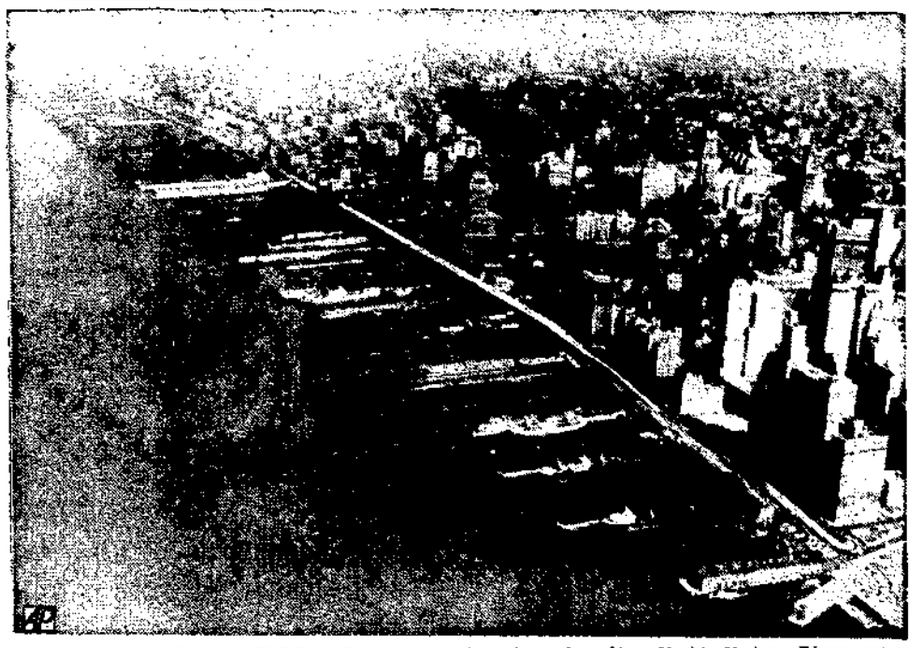
Cashman was born and reared on a farm near Shelby, and was graduated from Shelby High School in 1934. From 1934 to 1937 he farmed in partnership with his father. In the fall of 1937, he enrolled in the College of Agriculture at Ohio State University. There he majored in vocational agriculture education, and was graduated in June, 1941.

From July, 1941, to August, 1942, he taught vocational agriculture in the public schools at Upper Sandusky. He served in the U. S. Army from August, 1942, to November, 1954.

On Jan. 1, 1946, he accepted the position of Wyandot County agent. After nearly seven years in this position, he was granted a nine months' leave to do graduate work at Cornell University. He received his master of science degree in agriculture at Cornell in June, 1953, and returned to the county agent office in Upper Sandusky.

Cashman, his wife and twin daughters, Sue and Ann, live in Upper Sandusky, and plan to maintain their home here for the present.

Tensions Along Palestine Border Rise After Slaying Of 11 Israeli by Arab Gang



ALL QUIET ON THE WATERFRONT. This air view shows how New York's Hudson River waterfront—usually the scene of hustle and bustle—looked as strife between rival longshoremen's unions continued to tie up the port. Most of the huge piers are empty of passenger and freight vessels. Many shipping firms are taking their business to other ports.

Shaky Truce In Holy Land Jeopardized

Israel Sends Troops To Line; Moslems in Jordan, Syria Arming

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Tension gripped the border areas of Israel and her Arab neighbors today as Israeli investigators and U.N. observers probed the reported Negev Desert massacre of 11 Jews by a gang of Arabs yesterday.

(Newspapers in Beirut, Lebanon, carried dispatches from Jordan, reporting Israeli troops were concentrating on the Jordan border. The dispatches said the Jordan government has taken "immediate security measures." Travelers from Syria reaching Beirut reported a steady stream of Syrian military vehicles were moving southward, presumably to assist Jordan if necessary.)

Israeli Prime Minister Moshe Sharett met with Israel army and government chiefs at Beersheba, in the Negev, while the U.N. observers moved out to lonely Scorpion Pass for their on-the-spot check into the attack.

An Israel army spokesman said investigation showed the unidentified attackers came from the direction of the Jordan border 12 miles to the east.

Sources close to the foreign office said Israeli ambassadors in Washington, London and Paris have been instructed to draw the attention of the Western powers to the incident. The Israeli delegation to the United Nations also will submit a note to the Security Council chairman for distribution among the members of the council, the source said.

Sen. McCarthy Pledges To Fight; Blasts Critics

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today challenged critics of his Red-hunting methods—from President Eisenhower down—to name any Communists they have exposed.

The controversial chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee, cheered on by a St. Patrick's Day dinner gathering last night, pledged a no-quarter fight to dig out "Communist traitors."

Rejects Criticism

In the face of indirect criticism from Eisenhower and other top leaders of his party, he bluntly said he didn't give "a tinker's dam" if people in either the Republican or Democratic party—no matter how high or how low—were "unhappy" about his methods.

"This fight is going on as long as I am in the United States Senate," he said, touching off a burst of applause.

Eisenhower, in a news conference yesterday, deplored the effects of "unwise investigators." He also said recently that in the fight against communism "we are defeating ourselves if . . . we use methods that do not conform to the American sense of justice and fair play."

No Alternatives Suggested

McCarthy, in the first of four speeches in a quick swing through the Midwest, said there are some who say it's all right to dig out Communists, "but, oh, we don't like your methods." He said critics of his subcommittee's methods have not, however, suggested any effective alternative.

"When you hear them crying that they don't like the methods," he added, "I suggest that you ask them when and where they ever exposed a Communist by their methods."

He was scheduled to address another group here today and then leave for Milwaukee, where he will speak Friday night. He has another speech scheduled in Oklahoma City Saturday night.

Just before he started his broadcast address to some 1,200 members and guests of the Irish Fellowship Club here last night, one man called out: "Give 'em hell, Joe; you're in your own ballpark now."

Fires Back at Critics

McCarthy evidently felt he was as he fired back at critics of his investigating methods and also carried on his controversy with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens.

Referring to Stevens, the senator said, "I didn't start the fight but I think maybe I'll have to finish it."

Farm Program Under Study by Probe's Agents

WASHINGTON (AP) —Agents of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) have been quietly checking the Department of Agriculture and Secretary Benson's agency soon may be brought under the Wisconsin senator's fire.

McCarthy, now on a Midwestern speaking tour, has announced he wants to make a farm speech in the Senate.

It may be the kickoff in a campaign against some of the aspects of the flexible farm price support program put before Congress by Benson with President Eisenhower's support.

Another Row Possible

Investigation by the staff of McCarthy's subcommittee of alleged Communists who may be in the department could blossom at almost any time into hearings like those conducted into some of the Army's affairs.

Benson's action in announcing a cut in dairy price supports from the present level of 90 per cent to 75 per cent on April 1 has angered McCarthy and many of his dairy farm constituents in Wisconsin.

Chairmanship at Stake

McCarthy's attitude toward Benson—as expressed to the Wisconsin senator's friends—is that the cabinet member is a fine, upstanding gentleman whose ideas and speeches are likely to cost the Republicans Senate and House seats in the Middle West.

The net loss by Republicans of one Senate seat would bring Democratic control of that body and cost McCarthy his chairmanship of the Senate's permanent investigating committee. The Wisconsin senator has plans to campaign extensively for Republican candidates running in the November election.

New Violence Threatened by Puerto Ricans

Warning From State Department Puts 200 Extra Police on Duty

NEW YORK (AP)—A cryptic State Department warning that Puerto Rican Nationalists planned to kill "important" persons — including Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations—sent 200 extra city police on special guard duty early today.

Although Lodge was the only person named in the emergency order, officers were rushed to residences of prominent national, state and local officials.

The FBI had no comment on the alert. Further information from the State Department was not immediately available.

Lodge, who stays at the Waldorf-Astoria Towers, reportedly retired shortly before midnight.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, in town for the St. Patrick's Day parade, reportedly left his Roosevelt Hotel apartment late last night for his farm home in Pawling, N. Y.

Special protection was given Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), stopping at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The guard at Gracie Mansion, upper Eastside official home of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, was increased.

The homes of several federal judges and other officials got special protection on the strength of supplementary police orders dealing with public officials residing on Manhattan's West Side. Among them is Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. (D-Lib-NY).

U.S. Scientists Break Through Atomic Logjam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa) said today American scientists have broken through a logjam in the development of hydrogen and atomic power, and that the achievement points to accelerated development of both weapons and civilian power.

He gave no details. His prediction followed these disclosures:

1. Members of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee confirmed that a preliminary hydrogen explosion March 1 in the Pacific was three or four times heavier than scientists expected. Van Zandt estimated its power at 600 times that of the Hiroshima atom bomb, the first one used in warfare.

2. Informed sources who declined to be named said the United

Building Tours Planned

Harding High School Open House Set Friday

Harding High School will hold an open house Friday, the second since the new building was put into use. Hours will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Features of the open house will be visits to class sessions and tours of the building. Normal class activities will be going on so that parents and adults can see the actual operation of the school, principal Cecil W. Gabler said. Approximately 75 students will serve as guides.

MORE THAN 12,000 people visited the high school last August in the first open house, Gabler said.

Besides having the people see the building, Gabler said the open house will show what a fine job the students have done in keeping up the building.

"We're pretty proud of the way they have been taking care of everything," he said. "The students have a lot of pride in their building."

Special exhibits will be on display in the show cases around the building. One of the exhibits will be Howard Iams' paintings of the Whiskey Rebellion, 1791-1794. About 40 canvasses, oils, pastels and block prints, will be on display in Marion for the first time.

OTHER EXHIBITS include a collection of original trays, insects, adult education work and science projects.

Gabler said as many visitors as possible will be accommodated at the 8:55 a.m. assembly. Ben Ferrier, artic explorer, will speak. Visitors also may visit rehearsals of the high school choir, about 10:30 a.m. and the band, about 11 a.m. Exact times depend on the length of the assembly, Gabler said.

Three doors will be open for visitors, east, northeast, and front. Teachers will be in their rooms during the evening open house to explain school activities to the visitors.

A committee of the student council has set up the guide service. It includes Shirley Hoffman, chairman; Barbara Haycook and Jim Alex.

Calls Army Report Truthful

WASHINGTON —Secretary of Defense Wilson declared today he regards as truthful the Army report charging Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Roy Cohn, his chief counsel, put on pressure for special treatment for G. David Schine, drafted former aide.

And, Wilson asserted, he believes McCarthy's counter - charge that Secretary of the Army Stevens sought to have the investigation of alleged communism switched from the Army to other branches of the service "was never a proper one."

'Not True'

"It is my opinion that the charge was never a proper one and that it was never so," Wilson told the Senate Armed Services Committee at a public hearing.

Wilson had previously told the committee the armed services are not "Coddling Communists" — a charge McCarthy has made repeatedly, and that he has "absolute and complete confidence" in Stevens.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) asked whether Wilson regarded the Army report as truthful.

"I certainly would," Wilson replied.

Over repeated protests from Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass), members of the armed services committee turned Wilson's appearance before them on legislative matters into what amounted at times to an inquiry into the McCarthy-Stevens row.

Saltonstall said "it would not be helpful at this time" to go into questions of whether "Mr. Cohn, Mr. Schine, or Sen. McCarthy or Secretary Stevens was telling the truth."

Has Faith in Adams

Wilson also told the senators he has confidence in John G. Adams, Army counsel, "as far as I know" about him.

Wilson, under questioning by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said too that no cases of Communist or subversive infiltration in the armed forces had been exposed by any congress-contention by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that his investigations subcommittee had dug out subversives unknown to authorities.

Mediator Role Favored

Caracas Meeting Ignored by Canada

By ED LOGAN

OTTAWA (NANA) — Why isn't Canada grappling with the Americas' problems at the Caracas conference?

The Ottawa government has important interests in Latin America—indeed has sought in recent years to expand southward trade

The other American nations count Canada as significant to their prosperity as well. They have invited the Canadians to conferences—and been turned down—many times since 1890 when the Pan-American Union, forerunner of the present organization of American states was founded Government observers and officials think that the answers have clearly developed during the present Caracas meeting Canada does not seek the role of mediator, the authorities say privately—but feels it can play the part of an inter-American peacemaker better if it stays aloof from the day-to-day conflicts.

In addition, it is understood here Canada fears becoming involved in any disputes which do not directly concern Canada

The question of Canada's entrance into OAS was bluntly put to the government recently in parliament The reply by Lester Pearson, Minister of External Affairs was generally interpreted as 'quibbling'

No decision on the Ottawa government's sending delegates to the current conference had been made Pearson said, because Canada had not been invited

WHILE THIS WAS technically true, the other nations in the Americas have frequently made clear their hopes for Canadian participation in the OAS meetings.

Even at the present meeting where debate has centered on what stand OAS should take toward Communism, the retiring secretary - general, Alberta Lleras Camargo made a plea to Canada in his opening address.

Symbolic of the requests, and rebuffs, is the armchair carved with Canada's arms that was once prepared for an Ottawa delegate It is now gathering dust in a Washington storehouse

The government officials and observers privately cite as evidence of the Canadian mediator ambition the scrupulousity with which Ottawa has ignored the present meeting The Ambassador in Venezuela, Harry Norman, has not even been appointed an official observer.

IN YEARS PAST, government spokesmen here sought to explain that Canada's position as a member of the British Commonwealth precluded its taking on other international obligations But since Canada made a point of declaring war independently in 1939, and since it has set up its own diplomatic corps and joined the North Atlantic Treaty Organization this excuse no longer holds water.

Actually, the Canadians have tried hard to build good relations with the Latin-American nations They have exchanged ambassadors with nine countries and maintain consulates or trade commissioners in most of the others

Last year Latin-American-Canadian trade reached almost $600,000 000 As tourist trade has jumped Canadian airlines have recently established direct service to Mexico City

Last year, C D Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce, as well as of defense production led a good-will mission through South America This year an exhibition of 51 paintings by leading Canadian artists has been shown in Latin-American cities

Each month the Canadian Broadcasting Co gets hundreds of inquiries from the republics to the south, sent in response to its Latin-American service Canada has big investments in Brazilian industry and Peru's oil It sells wheat newsprint farm machinery and trucks to the other Americas Venezuela buys Canadian powdered milk, the West Indies salt fish Canada gets in return cotton coffee, sugar tobacco rice, bananas, peanuts—all typical Latin-American products

GOVERNMENT SPOKESMEN here make clear they recognize the significance of this trade—and also that Canada's interests are closely knit with the U S Canada counts itself as America's best friend among all the world's nations

Then why isn't Ottawa beside Washington in the Caracas debates" For one thing Ottawa is very aware that it doesn't always agree with Washington—as typified by prime minister Louis St Laurent's recent statement that sooner or later recognition must be given Communist China

And while Canada is aware it is affected by any dispute in the Americas it feels it can make the greatest contribution by playing 'third man' role

An early Hindu law code made a person deaf from birth incapable of inheriting property.

Boys Confess Breaking Into Grocery Store

Articles Valued at $50 Taken on Stolen Bikes By Youths 13 and 14

Two Marion juveniles today admitted to police they had broken into the Williams Grocery at 530 Ballentine Ave. last night. The boys, 14 and 13, confessed entering the building after being picked up by police here yesterday.

Just after the break-in was reported to police at 6:07 this morning a juvenile who had been reported missing by his father Wednesday after school was picked up at his home and admitted the crime, implicating another youth who was later picked up.

The youths are being held in the detention home and will be ordered to appear in Juvenile Court

Police Chief Tom Coon said the pair broke into the grocery and carried away, on stolen bicycles, merchandise valued at $50. The stolen items were hidden near the city dump.

Mrs. W. W. Coulson of 292 Patton St. notified the police of the break-in this morning after her husband, on his way to work on Ballentine Ave., noticed the panel of the front door kicked in.

Entrance to the store was first attempted at the rear door, Coon said. When police arrived, merchandise was found scattered from the front to the rear of the store. A number of sacks filled with groceries were on the floor ready to be carted away, Coon said. Other merchandise had been opened and eaten. Other items were found across the street.

The two youths admitted they had stolen two bicycles, one from N. Prospect St. and one from the rear of 305 N. State St. Wednesday afternoon, and then had broken into the grocery. Coon said the youths had hunted for bicycles with baskets to transport the stolen merchandise. After breaking into the store, the youths gathered up the stolen articles in an Army knapsack.

The groceries were recovered when the first youth apprehended directed officers to the dump. Chief Coon said the youths had built a camp fire there and planned to camp out all night but decided against it because of the cold.

The two bicycles, valued at $50 and $60 were recovered.

H-Bomb

States now is stockpiling hydrogen bombs that could be delivered anywhere in the world. This followed a statement by Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) Tuesday night that this country has a deliverable hydrogen bomb. President Eisenhower asked at his news conference about Cole's statement, reserved comment until next week. Cole is chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, and Van Zandt is a member.

3. Military officials gave an Atomic Energy subcommittee yesterday what members called a "highly optimistic" review of developments in atomic energy for such nonweapons purposes as propelling ships and aircraft.

It was after this meeting that Van Zandt said in an interview that an unspecified logjam has been broken and rapid progress is prospective.

"I am more enthusiastic now than ever before about the possibilities," he said.

Meanwhile, two other committee members, Representatives Durham (D-NC) and Price (D-Ill) called upon the Atomic Energy Commission to tell the public all it can about the Pacific hydrogen blast.

'Y' Maintenance Conference Held Here

Staff Members of YMCAs In West Virginia and Ohio Attend Party

Problems relating to building maintenance received full discussion yesterday when the third annual YMCA housekeeping institute was held in the Marion "Y."

Meeting in Marion because of its new building and model facilities, more than 100 YMCA executives and maintenance men from 32 cities in Ohio and West Virginia studied such problems as housecleaning, floor care and swimming pool maintenance.

PURPOSE OF the institute was outlined by Dayton's George O. Coleman, general chairman of the convention. He said appearance of the building is of front rank importance in achieving a successful YMCA program. "The purpose of the institute is to discuss housekeeping problems and find ways of correcting them," he said.

Arthur Haas, executive secretary of the local "Y" and host for the institute, was more specific. "One man may want to know what is the best solution to wash drapes in, another the best grade of floor wax, and a third how to alleviate backwash in his swimming pool. We have experts here to assist him in solving the problem."

INDIVIDUAL PROBLEMS were studied in four group discussions or "buzz sessions." Some of the information brought out in these would be of value to housewives as well as maintenance men. In one session the men were told what qualities to look for in cleaners, wax, insect killers, germicides, sweeping compounds, polishes and paint.

Following these discussions, the YMCA officials watched a display and demonstration of various products and equipment on the market today.

Earlier in the day, they attended a luncheon at which films were shown. Guest speaker in the morning was A. F. Coykendale, industrial relation manager of the Findlay Division, Gar Wood Industries, Inc. He spoke on the "Importance of Good Housekeeping."

Four Unions Ruled Eligible For Eaton Vote

Application of Fifth Referred to National Board for Decision

Four union groups were ruled eligible to appear on a future ballot at the Eaton Manufacturing Co., and status of an independent union was referred to Washington for decision, following a hearing Wednesday of the National Labor Relations Board in Marion.

The four eligible groups are the International Association of Machinists (AFL), the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Ship Builders, Blacksmiths, Forgers and Helpers (AFL), the international Die Sinkers Conference, and the United Auto Workers (CIO).

Question Referred to Board

Referred to the board in Washington for decision of eligibility was the status of a local independent union composed of die room employes at the plant.

Ralph Tyner, field examiner of the NLRB who served as hearing officer, told the interested groups that the board in Washington will decide the appropriateness of the respective units, and determine whether it is appropriate to hold an election at this time.

The Machinists on Feb. 21 filed a petition with the NLRB asking to be recognized as the bargaining agent for plant workers. A second petitioner was the Boilermakers group. Interveners were the Die Sinkers and the local independent union.

Wednesday afternoon the fifth group, the UAW, entered the picture by making a motion to intervene.

Spokesmen for the company maintained that it was their feeling that the NLRB should determine both the appropriateness of the various units seeking recognition in the plant, and also the appropriateness of the time to hold an election.

They said they were not trying to stand in the way of anything the employes wanted. At the present time, approximately 90 persons are employed at the plant.

Briefs summarizing points brought out during the hearing are to be filed within seven days in Washington by those groups desiring to do so, Tyner told the union representatives. Upon request of the Die Sinkers Conference, an extension of seven additional days was granted, making March 31 the deadline.

Officials Present

Representing the company at the hearing were Paul E. Minsel of Cleveland and C. J. Roberts of Marion.

Spokesmen for the Machinists group was A. P. Nobozny of Cleveland, grand lodge representative. Other official representatives included Walter T. Lynch and Edward W. Wyatt of Cleveland, for the Die Sinkers; Mortimer Riemer and E. W. Patterson, international vice preident, both of Cleveland, for the Boilermakers: C. M. Bowman of Marion, for the Auto Workers.

These were the official spokesmen of the various interested union groups. Other representatives also attended the hearing.

The hearing, beginning at 10 a. m. and extending until after 4:30 p.m., was held in the Common Pleas Courtroom.

Bus

be a fair method for the nearly 90 businessmen in the Retail Merchants Division to share in the $50-a-day purchase of bus tokens.

The plan which was finally approved was for each businessman to purchase a proportionate share of the tokens based on the size of his business.

Lautenslager explained that if all of the members go along with the plan, the total cost to each businessman each day would range from as little as 17 cents to no more than $2.75.

He said this is possible only if all merchants in the division participate. If some should decide not to participate, the cost to those who do might be a few cents a day more, he said.

THOSE ATTENDING the meeting yesterday afternoon agreed unanimously that this plan was the fairest and most feasible. They also expressed the opinion that no businessman would suffer any loss because of the increased number of customers the restoration of bus service would be likely to bring into their stores.

Lautenslager pointed out that even for a 90-day trial basis, Springfield City Lines stands to lose a total of some $9,000 while the merchants would lose only a portion of their individual contributions because there doubtless will be more shoppers in the downtown area each day and increased sales will absorb at least a portion of the daily contribution, he added.

LAUTENSLAGER POINTED out that approval of the 25 men who attended the meeting yesterday did not mean approval of the entire Retail Merchants Division. He said the next step in the plan is get the information to all those who did not attend the meeting and ask their approval also. This will be done by bulletins mailed out as soon as possible to all members of the organization, he said. Each of these bulletins will fully explain the plan and list the share of the individual merchant to whom each bulletin is addressed.

Because the bus company wishes to start service as soon as possible —perhaps by April 1—it is important that approval of the merchants be received within a day or two after they receive the bulletin, Lautenslager said.

IN THE MORNING meeting yesterday, Baker emphasized his promise to bring in bigger and better buses for operation here, along with the maintenance of "adequate service." He promised that the buses would operate when and where they are most needed and that a schedule will be published. He said that the time a bus is to leave each stop will be listed on the schedules and that the schedules will be maintained.

"If we didn't provide adequate service, we would be defeated before we started," he told the group in the mayor's office.

Baker said the company was not seeking a subsidy. What the company is seeking is merely some tangible proof that the merchants and Marion residents really want bus service restored, he said. Purchase of the tokens would provide this tangible proof, he said.

"If we did not feel that Marion can support a bus company and make a profit for it, we wouldn't be here," Baker said.

AFTER THREE WEEKS without bus service, it would be necessary to restore the bus riding habit or if none previously existed, to create one, Baker explained.

This would mean the company would lose money until that bus riding habit could be established and enough people started riding the buses regularly to make it a profitable operation, he said.

Restoring this habit would require the support of merchants, industry and civic groups to urge Marionites to ride the buses, he said.

He proposed that promotion of the bus company could be carried on in the advertising of the individual merchants and by the use of the tokens. He said the bus company would participate also in such advertising and would do some promotional advertising on its own urging Marion residents to ride the buses and do their shopping in Marion—not go to other larger cities to shop.

BAKER SAID he already has the necessary equipment and the only delay in starting service would be in getting routes and schedules set up, bringing the buses to Marion and putting them in service.

Fares would probably be the same as those charged in Springfield, Baker said. These are 15 cents cash for the casual rider, four tokens for 50 cents, and free transfers, he said.

Springfield City Lines, Inc. is owned by a group of Springfield businessmen. It operates a total of some 60 buses in Springfield plus some intra-city bus service and maintains a strict schedule on all lines, according to Kenneth L. Rush, vice president and general counsel of the company.

State Engineer Hits 131 Water Treating Plants

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — At first glance, you wouldn't think water treatment plants could pollute.

State water pollution engineers say they can, however, in some cases. They want to bring them under the state's stream pollution control program.

G. A. Hall, engineer-secretary of the state water pollution control board, says the board is taking steps to bring water treatment plants using lime or lime-soda under the program.

Wastes from this type of water softening agent are harmful when discharged into streams in some cases, he said. The same wastes can be harmless or even beneficial to other streams, he says, depending upon the amount of wastes and chemical composition of the stream.

The board has notified 49 cities and 82 villages using this type of water softening agent they must obtain waste discharge permits if their softening wastes are poured into Ohio waters. The permits are the same as those needed to dump sewage or industrial wastes into Ohio rivers and lakes.

Marion Plant's Waste Reported as Harmless

L. O. Porter, manager of the Marion Water Co., reported today that Marion is one of the cities whose water treatment plant wastes are considered harmless or even beneficial to Ohio waters.

Residue at the plant is discharged only when the basins are being cleaned Porter said, while some villages and cities are putting all the lime or lime-soda wastes into the streams.

The water company manager said Marion will probably apply for a waste discharge permit as a matter of course.

Two Minor Accidents Listed in City Traffic

Two minor traffic accidents were reported today by city police.

Two cars were slightly damaged in an accident at 1:08 a.m. today at 438 N. State St. A car driven by Chester Bartow, 30, of 592 N. State St. and a parked car owned by Loran Bailey of 438 N. State St. were involved in the mishap.

Worker's Hand Injured In Accident at Factory

Royal Bosh of 254 Chicago Ave., a welder at the Marion division of Tecumseh Products Co., was taken to Marion City Hospital this morning for treatment of a hand injury sustained about 10:30 at the plant.

He was treated in the emergency room and was expected to be admitted as a patient. Company officials said they had not had an opportunity to make an investigation and therefore did not know the cause of the accident.

Bosh was taken to the hospital in a Gunder ambulance.

HELD AFTER FATAL BRAWL

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 17-year-old youth was being held by juvenile authorities today in connection with the death of Joseph Kelly, 17. Kelly died yesterday. The youth being held told police he and Kelly were friends but that they had a fight Tuesday. Officers said he admitted striking Kelly but said Kelly's head hit the pavement when he fell.

Chamber Body Considers City Bus Problems

A general discussion of the lack of bus service in Marion was held along with discussions of several other matters of community interest at a meeting of the Civic Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon at Hotel Harding.

John Dowler, chairman, said members of the committee expressed the hope that a satisfactory solution of the bus situation could soon be found and service restored on city streets. No other action was taken, he said.

In other action, the committee discussed the proposed traffic and grade crossing engineering survey, heard a report of the progress of the City Charter Commission, and discussed disposition of the present City Hospital on its vacation sometime next fall. The committee recommended that future use of the building be fully explored. No other action was taken on these subjects, Dowler said.

A proposal of the City Board of Education for a three-mill tax levy to raise money for kindergartens in city elementary schools and to raise the salaries of the elementary teachers was also given consideration, Dowler said. However, the matter was tabled for further action until the next meeting of the committee, he added. This was to give all members an opportunity to consider the proposal and form an opinion on it, he explained.

C&O Reports Rise in Profits

Earnings for 1953 Hit 48 Mililon Total

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway last year had its fourth successive year of increased earnings, according to C&O's 1953 annual report, out today.

CIO net income in 1953 of $48.1 million compared with $45 million in 1952, $38 million in 1951 and $34 million in 1950, the report said.

Earnings a share of common stock were $6.04 in 1953, $5.66 in 1952, $4.80 in 1951 and $4.25 in 1950. The report points out that the $3.1 million increase in net income in 1953 over 1952 was in spite of a decline in gross revenues of $11.6 million.

The increased earnings resulted in large part from "major additions to physical plant, extensive mechanization, modernization of methods and facilities," according to Cyrus S. Eaton, chairman of the board, and Walter J. Tuohy, president, who signed the report jointly.

Contributing to C&O's increased 1953 earnings, the report says, was a record $155.1 million from merchandise freight traffic. Although C&O traditionally is regarded as primarily a coal-carrying road, the report points out that today nearly half of the C&O freight volume comes from merchandise, the other half from coal.

Diversification of traffic revenues has been the object of a concentrated industrial development program, which in 1953 brought 114 new traffic-producing businesses to C&O's line. Since World War II, 867 new businesses, ranging from the manufacture of chemicals and automotive parts to the making of electric light bulbs, have located on the C&O.

Marion is located on a C&O line running from the main east-west route north through Columbus and Toledo to Detroit.

Local Residents' Sister Buried at Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Sarah Keuhner Liebno, 85, of Baltimore, Md., sister of Marion residents, died March 11 in Baltimore and funeral servies and burial were held there last Saturday. She had been in failing health several years.

Born March 20, 1868, she was a daughter of Joseph and Magdalena Heimlich Kuehner of Marion County. Her husband, Robert Liebno, died a number of years ago.

Surviving are her son, Glenroy Liebno of Baltimore, four grandchildren, and sisters, Mrs. Emma Augenstein, Mrs. Nora Lust, Mrs. Flora Miller, and Mrs. Minnie Stose, all of Marion. A son, William, sisters, Mrs. Kate Lehner, Mrs. Mary DeGreif, and Mrs. Sophia Kries, and brothers, George Kuehner and William Kuehner, preceded her in death.

Conference of Bankers Slated Here March 25

Bankers from six counties will be present when a bankers' conference is held in Marion March 25. They will come from Marion, Crawford, Delaware, Harding, Morrow and Wyandot Counties.

A similar conference will be held in Lima March 23, with officers and directors of banks in Allen, Auglaize, Mercer, Putnam and Van Wert counties participating.

Speaker at both sessions will be Merle Hostetler, research director for the Federal Reserve Bank at Cleveland, who will discuss "The Pyramid of Bank Credit."

Top U.S.-Jap Experts Treat H-Blast Victims

TOKYO (AP) — A U.S.-Japanese team of radiation specialists today began treating 23 Japanese fishermen showered with radioactive debris from history's mightiest man-made explosion in the Marshall Islands March 1.

The six doctors from the Atom Bomb Casualty Commission at Hiroshima—first city hit by an A-bomb—worked today with four crewmen still in serious condition hospitalized here.

The Japanese government decided to delay a protest or demands for compensation pending a joint investigation.

Public furore continued at a high pitch. Opponents of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's government demanded prompt action, without specifying what it should be.

Spokesmen for the fishing industry were quoted by Kyodo News Service as saying the industry had been dealt a "near fatal blow" by discovery that some fish from the radioactive boat had been sold.

Tuna went begging in many markets and prices continued to skid.

Kyodo said eight other fishing boats arriving in port from central Pacific fishing grounds were found to be slightly radioactive, but none of the fish was contaminated and crewmen were uninjured.

The radioactivity presumably was picked up from contaminated sea water.

County Health Nurses To Attend State Parley

Mrs. Bertha Snyder and Mrs. Catherine Kelly, nurses of the Marion County Health Department, are two of more than 250 persons who have registered for an Epilepsy Institute to be held Friday and Saturday in Columbus.

This regional institute on the social aspects of epilepsy is being conducted under the auspices of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children, sponsor of the Easter Sale drive.

Senators raised the questions of "coddling" and other words and phrases McCarthy has used while Wilson was before them on another matter.

The primary reason for his appearance before the committee was to discuss proposed changes in the doctors draft law.

31 Denied Commissions

The defense secretary said the armed services have 51 drafted doctors and dentists who have been denied commissions—20 because of "very questionable loyalty."

Wilson said the remaining 31 were refused commissions because in some respect other than serious loyalty doubts they failed to qualify as officers.

Of the 51 physicians and dentists, he said, two are in the Air Force and the rest in the Army. The Navy has none.

WILL ATTEND BANQUET

Calvin T. Snyder of 196½ W. Center St., representative of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, will attend the company's eighth anniversary banquet March 20 in the Hall of Mirrors at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel in Columbus. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Snyder. Honored guests will include Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Mrs. Lausche, Samuel A. Burgess, vice president of Equitable, and Mrs. Burgess, of New York City, and Walter A. Robinson, state insurance commissioner.

Against Ike

By George Sokolsky

In all the excitement over McCarthy, Stevens, Cohn and Adams, the actual target is President Eisenhower. The Democrats are not to be blamed for taking advantage of a quarrel among Republicans, except that as Americans they ought to realize that no great principle is at stake in this quarrel, nothing but personalities that worked together as friends and associates and kept diaries of their conversations, some of which represent the walla-walla of men who are dining together.

SOKOLSKY

Nobody will ever know for sure how much of these conversations was just talk, how much was innuendo, in the sense that you do this for me and I'll do this for you, which is as normal in politics as in other walks of life. No one will ever know for sure how much was intended threat. That is in the heart of each individual.

-:-

MEANWHILE, President Eisenhower's program is delayed. The Congress is at a standstill, fussing over whether McCarthy or Stevens is a liar, which probably neither is, when what ought to be done is to get on with the business of the nation.

On Sunday, for instance, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' outstanding victory was buried in the refuse of the quarrel, which was more attractive.

Nevertheless, anyone with half an historic eye can see that when both McCarthy and Stevens are forgotten, the Caracas decision may be as important, if not more so, than the Monroe Doctrine. It represents not a unilateral but a cooperative decision.

The McCarthy - Stevens quarrel has been kept alive not so much by the Democrats who in principle generally hold as the Wisconsin Republican does, although they may not approve of his techniques of investigating or his aside remarks.

THIS QUARREL from the very start has been fomented and kept going by an active, effective group of New Deal newspapermen and by New Dealers who continue to be bitter over the victory of Dwight D. Eisenhower and who take advantage of every situation to give the impression of Republican ineptitude before the country.

Vice President Richard Nixon, in his speech on Saturday night, brought that fact before the country. I thought he did it effectively. Nixon is growing in stature every day.

It would have been beneficial to the country if all sides had accepted his meditation between McCarthy and Stevens, because when the whole picture is looked at, nothing has yet been brought forth in this controversy, except that the Communists have succeeded in destroying the usefulness of investigators who were getting too close to the hard core of their conspiracy.

While they give the impression that they are killing off Joe McCarthy, they are actually hitting at President Eisenhower. They are creating such disorders in the country that the orderly business of government is arrested. It is as though a constant jazz band were playing over a loud-speaker on Capitol Hill.

THEIR ASSUMPTION is that when the Republicans go to the voters in November 1954, they will have no record of achievement; that the voters will be disgusted with President Eisenhower's party. The defeat in 1954 will make it possible so to disorganize the processes of government until 1956 so that then Eisenhower will thus be defeated.

Most who think this way expect that Adlai Stevenson will get the Democratic nomination and that the New Deal will be revived. They may be fooled about that because too many Democrats are opposed to the ADA and the movement to make Sen. Stuart Symington the Democratic candidate in 1956 grows in strength.

Be that as it may, the target is not McCarthy; it is Eisenhower.

One of the major difficulties in this situation—and it affects every agency of government—is that the New Dealers, since the election as in the process, since the election of 1952, have not taken their defeat in good grace. They resented it.

-:-

THEY HAVE adopted the attitude that the Eisenhower administration will be of short duration; that all they need to do is to mark time until the Democrats return to power. It is possible to observe, from the sidelines, the sabotage of this administration even by some who work in it.

The times are so perilous that all this political horseplay may amount historically to a major disaster. But then who really cares about that if there might be some personal gain in a row.

Example Set

By Victor Riesel

The Communist generals of the Red Vietminh armies besieging French airports in Indochina—airports serviced by American boys right now—should be mighty grateful to the muscle-men whose strike has paralyzed the Port of New York for almost two weeks.

RIESEL

The Comintern knows that at least 11 cargo and troop ships have been stalled at the U. S. Army base in Brooklyn.

The Comintern knows, as do the heavy-fisted terrorists now blockading the U. S. Army piers with picket lines they say are manned by longshoremen, that failure to move some of the seven Army freighters means failure to deliver vital parts, trucks, tanks, small arms and other equipment to our allies in French Indochina.

The Comintern knows, as do the hoods brought in from Manhattan and Staten Island to barricade the streets leading to the Army's Brooklyn piers, that failure to move the seven freighters means that our Military Defense Assistance Program (MDAP) is bogging down just when it must be speeded across the world.

The pickets, supplied by sections of the old International Longshoremen's Union ousted from the AFL for racketeering, know as they walk Brooklyn's asphalt jungle that our friends are dying under Red fire in the Asian jungles while these ships are tied up.

FURTHERMORE, they know that one of these seven cargo ships has been prevented from steaming down the harbor to the Leonardo, N. J., Naval Depot to take on heavy ammo.

The other six, sitting in the water like kiwi birds, are scheduled to take on tank parts, artillery and the engineering equipment needed to keep our bases operating around the world.

The four "troopers" which have been delayed are finally being worked by Army civil service personnel. The ships have been held up by the old Longshoremen's Union pickets, though the vessels were due to transport 10,000 soldiers and some military wives and families to England, Germany, North Eastern Air Command bases, Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone.

The pickets, defying our Army, have been brought in by the toughest crowd in New York. They have been preventing rival AFL longshoremen from crowsing 50 feet of pavement to work the Army ships.

-:-

THE MUSCLE-MEN everywhere are terrorizing AFL longshoremen who fear not so much for themselves, if they cross the mob's line, but their families.

Virtually none of the tough imported pickets now isolating the U. S. Army base ever worked there.

The men who for years have loaded military cargo want to go back in.

This strike started about two weeks ago as a power play by the old Longshoremen's Union against the new AFL outfit now trying to clean up the port. The almost forgotten reason for the crippling strike, which is costing businessmen an estimated million dollars a day and the workers incalculable millions in lost pay, is the fact that one shipping company dared to hire an AFL man.

The toughs retaliated by refusing to handle cargo brought to the docks by AFL teamsters. And the muscle-men have defied the Federal courts, the local police and the National Labor Realtions Board.

Let it be said here, however, that they failed to terrorize AFL President George Meany. For over two hours last Saturday morning—at the invitation of AFL Seafarers' chief Paul Hall, Meany toured the bristling waterfront in a lone car.

-:-

THERE WAS no bodyguard! Yet he and Hall went out on the toughest piers. They invaded Tough Tony Anastasio's bailiwick. They rolled through the "pistol - local" territory.

They spoke to rank and file longshoremen in waterfront area union halls. They heard stories of beatings and threats to their women and children.

Meany and Hall heard first hand how AFL longshoremen want to go to work despite this terror, but now the hiring bosses working for the stevedoring companies on the piers just won't blow the whistle.

Without the whistle, no one works. It's like somebody throwing away the time clock in a factory. No one can punch in.

Without the whistle, there can be no official hiring, no payrolls, no loading. And the hiring bosses on each pier won't sound the signal despite pressure from the AFL longshoremen and the ship companies which have little control over the stevedoring outfits they hire to get the cargo loaded. The hiring bosses are either terrorized or controlled by the mobs!

So it's to the credit of George Meany that he defied the strong-arm men on their home ground!

Now it's time for the U. S. government to do the same.

Pleasure Cruise

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

Taking a pleasure cruise is to many people almost as much of a mental hazard as learning to dance.

They like the idea, they think it would be fun, but they are a bit afraid of it, for fear they will do something that will make them look foolish.

HAL BOYLE

It is amazing in a supposedly brash country like America how many shy people duck new social adventures for fear they'll break an unknown etiquette rule.

On one recent cruise a bashful girl had her meals alone in her cabin for several days because she was terrified at the thought she might use the wrong fork or spoon in the public dining room and be secretly ridiculed. An older woman passenger, sensing the situation, gradually drew her out of her shell and the girl ended up by having, as they say, a wonderful time.

A SHIP IS A strange new world, but the rules of life aboard it are the same as those in ordinary use ashore.

After returning from an 18-day cruise to the West Indies, I'm convinced the only two mistakes you can make on such a trip are: (1) To fail to have fun, or (2) to jump overboard.

The first rule on a cruise is—relax. Nobody is scoring your errors. The chances are 160 million to one that Emily Post isn't aboard. But suppose you do find yourself with a poised fork in your fist just as everybody else attacks the course at hand with a spoon. There are at least four genteel ways to solve the crisis:

1. Claim you are near-sighted.

2. If you are a lady, unobtrusively drop the fork—handle end first—down the bosom of your gown.

3. Call the waiter over and say your cousin asked you to bring back a fork as a souvenir, and please will he wrap this one up.

4. Stab with the fork whoever is sitting at your left and ask in chill tones of reproach, 'Pray now, sir (or lady, as the case may be), will you cease pinching me beneath the table?" This will not only get you sympathy—it may win you applause that'll give you time to pick up the right spoon.

—:—

HERE ARE A FEW other general tips, more or less serious, for those planning to take their first cruise:

Q. My husband would like to go on a cruise, but hates to dress up. What should I tell him?

A. Tell him to shut up—and dress up. He should wear a tux every evening except the first and last nights out and nights the ship is in port. But after lying out on deck all day under the warm sun, he'll really feel like sprucing up.

Q. Should a man wear a white tropical tux or a gray one?

A. Any color will do. If it is white when he starts, it will probably be battleship gray when he gets back. Tell him not to bother about stiff shirts. Plain white shirts with a clip-on bowtie will get him by.

Q. My wife is afraid she will get bored on a cruise. Will she?

A. Any woman who can't keep herself entertained on a cruise probably needs an undertaker, and most ships have a qualified one among the crew. If your wife gets bored, you can always have her embalmed.

Q. I know you can get married at sea, but can a cruise captain give me a divorce?

A. Not until they put a keel under Las Vegas, and float it out to sea.

Q. Can I go into the ship lounge in my bathing suit?

A. Sure. Once.

Q. Can a cruise passenger win enough at cards to pay for his trip?

A. Passengers generally are expected to play with a fresh deck.

Q. Am I likely to find a husband on a cruise?

A. Yes. But the problem is whose.

Q. I hear you have to tip everybody on a cruise. How much do you tip the captain?

A. Nothing. Just drop him a postcard after you get home telling him how much you appreciate the swell way he drove the ship.

Electronic Device Works Stop Lights By Remote Control

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An emergency hospital ambulance snapped green traffic signal lights to red by remote control as it sped through a congested intersection in downtown Los Angeles yesterday.

The ambulance was testing an experimental electronic traffic control system designed by engineers at North American Aviation. The device is known as "NATECS." It consists of two parts, (1) a small radio transmitter in a moving police car, fire truck or ambulance, which passes the word to a (2) midget, weatherproof receiver on an intersection traffic signal.

The receiver cuts into the timing of the traffic lights and makes sure all are red and stay that way for the vehicle until five seconds after it has cleared the crossing. The emergency over, the signals go back to their regular, set timing.

The device automatically clears intersections up to ¼ mile ahead. The city is testing the devices to determine if they should be installed on emergency vehicles.

7 Leap From Crippled Plane Near Formosa

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Seven persons who parachuted from a C119 Flying Boxcar were plucked from the sea 100 miles off northern Formosa today. Then the pilot and co-pilot brought the faltering plane to a landing at Taipeh.

The U.S. Air Force plane, en route from Okinawa, developed engine trouble.

Woman Aids Fight By Convicted Killer To Win Freedom

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Constance Keehn met convicted killer Don Jesse Neal for 15 minutes at Utah State Prison yesterday and came out "more convinced than ever" that the 24-year-old Californian is innocent.

Miss Keehn came here from Sherman Oaks, Calif., to aid the legal fight Neal is making to overturn his conviction of first-degree murder in the 1951 death of a Salt Lake City policeman.

Miss Keehn first became interested in the case after reading a newspaper classified advertisement in Los Angeles, in which Neal asked for help in escaping the firing squad. He has been in the Utah prison's death row for 2½ years. An appeal has prevented his execution.

Cincinnati Evens Playoff Series, Gains 5-3 Decision

Barons Tripped by 2-Goal Spurt in Final 10 Minutes

Cincinnati s league champion Mohawks evened the International Hockey League s Turner Cup playoff series with a hard earned 5 3 win over the Marion Barons last night at the Coliseum

A two-goal spurt in the final 10 minutes of the third period clinched the win for the Mohawks after Marion had knotted the count at 3 3 with less than two minutes gone in that stanza

The third game of the best of seven series will be played to night The Barons opened the play offs with a 4 3 victory Tuesday night at the Cincinnati Gardens with the fourth game slated here Saturday night The Barons opened the play offs with a 4 3 victory Tuesday night at Cincinnau breaking a 16-game winning streak at home by the Hawks

Barons Take Lead

Nearly half the first period had elapsed before the Barons for the second night in a row jumped into the lead Hal Jones took credit for the score with an assist going to Tony Poeta Poeta had skated from center ice straight in on Charley Hodge C ncinnati s rugged goalie but his shot was wide of the net He dug the puck off the boards and relayed out where Jones picked up the pass just in front of the net and blasted it pas a surprised Hodge The score came at the 9 43 mark

The equalizer was notched by the Mohawks Connie Broden after 11 25 had passed Broden picked up a loose puck in the corner behind the Marion nets and passed out to Reggie Grigg He then took a return pass just ins de his blue line and went all the way unmolested His shot from about 30 feet out went just over the shoulder of Marion s Lou Crowdis Butch MacKay put his mates ahead at 17 49 Broden had dug the puck off the boards behind the nets and passed to Mac Kay just inside the blue marker His shot was made through a screen of Cincinnati and Marion skaters and Crowdis was unable to brush it aside

In the second period hard rugged play featured by rough body checking and puck stealing by both teams continued Grigg boosted the count to 3 1 Cincinnati when he belted in an unassisted goal at the 4 11 mark He shot from about 20 feet out after intercepting a Marion pass at center ice

Poeta Cuts Deficit

Poeta narrowed the gap to a single goal after 11 41 had elapsed Hal Jones drew Hodge to one side of the net and set up the score with a pass to Poeta just in front of Hodge on the opposite side The Mohawks were down a man at the time Bill Goold had been banished to the box for two minutes on a holding infraction

The period also was marked by a fight between Marion s Ted Lebioda and Duke Edmundson of the Hawks Lebioda belted the Cincinnati star after he had been clipped from behind by Edmundson

With only 1 57 gone in the final period Poeta batted in his second goal with an assist going to the Barons scoring ace Kenny Schultz Schultz fed Poeta a pass at the center of the rink and Poeta went down all alone He faked Hodge out of position and put the score in with a backhand shot to the opposite corner

For the next 10 minutes the teams battled on even terms with the Baron defenders shining Hal Jones Poeta and Joe Ingoldsby were outstanding with their pick and stealing performance Crowdis also turned in another outstanding goo in tending the net s

The deciding goal in favor of the Barons at the 11 35 mark when Bill Goold scored an unassisted goal He stole a Marion pass and skated half the length of the rink before shooting at Crowdis with a shoulder-high shot The clincher came with only six seconds to play when Bun Smith belted in an other unassisted goal His came after Crowdis had been pulled and the Marion net was untended

Vejprava Injured

Gordie Vejprava was lost with four minutes remaining when he was slammed into the boards behind the Mohawks goal by a pair of burly Cincinnati players His left shoulder was severely injured and he was taken to City Hospital for X rays Club officials reported the shoulder was sore today but Vejprava will dress for the tilt tonight

Just before Smith s clinching goal with six seconds to go Schultz had scored what apparently was the tying marker for the Barons With 19 seconds showing on the clock Hodge was pelted by a barrage of shots by the high flying Barons

He batted away three attempts before being snowed under and falling to the ice Schultz knocked in the score and the goal judge called it a score Referee Doug Young blew his whistle for a faceoff and overruled the score He later admitted to Coach Ott Heller that he thought the puck had been covered by Hodge

One of the smallest crowds of the season watched the struggle Only 850 paid fans were on hand for the first playoff game held on the Coliseum ice

Grace Places in Balloting For Coach of Year Honors

Basketball fever is running high in Mount Gilead this week as Les Grace and his district champion Indians prep for their clash tomorrow at Troy s Hobart arena in the regional tournament

The Indians will be meeting Westmont a consolidated school at Hollandsburg O in the second game on the schedule Lockland Wayne takes on New Vienna in the opener at 7

Meanwhile further honors were pulled in today by the team Its coach won a spot in the state wide poll conducted by the Associated Press to nominate the Class A and B coach of the year in Ohio

Named by Coaches

A total of 140 high school mentors participated in the poll and Grace was listed on several of the ballots As had been expected Joe Martin Lockland Wayne mentor was named the best in the Class B ranks while Gallipolis Dick Shrider took the Class A crown

While Grace and his charges go calmly about their preparations for the big ties residents of Mt Gilead are slowly reaching the boiling point The high school cage crew is the No 1 conversation piece and most fans are planning the trip to Troy

The Morrow County team first crew from that county ever to reach regional play will carry a 20 3 record into the tourney Westmont boasts 24 wins against a single setback

Westmont coach Glenn Harter will be throwing a veteran lineup at the Mt Gilead team Biggest man in the attack will be Duane Richards 6 3 center and pivotman The other probable starters all seniors will include Robert Prethe and Lowell Brimley both 6 0 at the forwards and Brad Richards 5 9 and Carroll Wilcox 5 6 at the guards Most of the help from the bench is obtained from a pair of sophomore performers Jim Deeter, 5 10 ,and Duane Moore, 5 6

It will also mark the first appearance of the Westmont school

Basketball fever is running high in regional play Last year Harter s charges were dropped in the semi final round of the sectional district However in 1949 before the consolidation move Jeffersonburg reached the regional tournament before bowing to Lockland Wayne loser to Delphos St Johns in the state tournament finals

Shifting Defense

Harter describes his team as not too fast and not too deliberate he added he depends mostly on a slow deliberate break of ball but does shift into a fast breaking offense at times His defense also varies from a man to man into a zone

The Westmont coach made his backers of his team are as excited as the Mt Gilead boosters and he like Grace has shortened practice sessions this week in an effort to prevent his charges from tightening up

Arrangements have been made for the Mt Gilead crew to remain overnight at Vandalia regardless of the outcome of Friday night s clash The winners Friday will return Saturday for the regional title clash

An estimated 1 500 Mt Gilead fans were on hand at Capital University s Alumni Gym last Saturday when the Indians romped over Williamsport for the Central District title Most of those fans are planning the longer trip to the regionals and a few additional ones probably will also be on hand

The team itself will go into the game at full strength Carrying most of the load will be Grace s regular performers Ted Moody and John Mosher will draw the most attention from the opponents on the basis of their performances in district play Also tends to give Westmont a tough evening are John Bachelder Dick Zolman and John Staley of the regular starting squad Grace will expect additional help from Larry White, Phil Schrader Gene Brush Ken Bendle Bob Vaughn Jim Sweeney and Dick Harris

Newcomers With Yanks Fall Again

By RIP WATSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't bother to shed a tear for the stumbling New York Yankees, who are having trouble winning baseball games these days.

Casey Stengel's young men lost their fourth straight exhibition yesterday. The surprising Philadelphia Athletics whipped the world champions 5-3 for their seventh win in a row. That makes eight losses in 11 tries for the Yanks and leaves the New Yorkers seventh in the American League spring standings.

But before you start consigning the champs to a second division berth, it is worthwhile to note that only two of Stengel's October, or World Series, players were in the March starting lineup.

Gil McDougald opened at third base and belted two triples, the second three-bagger driving in the first Yankee run, and Gene Woodling started in left field. Shortstop Phil Rizzuto also came in the game in the late innings. The Scooter rapped a single in the Yanks' two-run rally in the ninth.

For purposes of comparison, a look backwards shows that New York was fifth among American League teams at the conclusion of spring training a year ago.

Four players obtained from the Yanks in a trade last December drove in runs in the Athletics' victory. Rookie Jim Finigan clouted a home run off Steve Kraly, who used to be his teammate at Binghamton in the Eastern League last year. Vic Power, Bill Renna and Don Bollweg also sent runs home.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, meanwhile, apparently are taking a directly opposite course in getting ready to try for their third consecutive pennant and still another go at the Yanks in the World Series.

Although they were shut out by Sandy Consuegra for five innings and managed only seven hits to Chicago's nine, the Brooks thumped the White Sox 5-1 yesterday and now boast an eight-game winning stream. Six regulars started for the Dodgers. Don Hoak's home run and a two-run triple by fleet Junior Gilliam were the big blows backing up a good pitching job by veteran rookie Pete Wojey, Don Bessent and Bob Milliken.

The Milwaukee Braves, looked upon in some quarters as the Dodgers' chief threats, got even better pitching as fastballer Bob Buhl and rookie Ray Crone limited the Philadelphia Phillies to five hits in a 2-0 victory. Joe Adcock, Braves first baseman, batted in both runs with singles in the first and eighth innings.

The Cincinnati trio of Art Fowler, Jim Melton and Jack Crimian almost combined for a shutout too in a 4-1 win over the Detroit Tigers. The losers' only run came in the ninth inning, and it was tainted by an error by the Redlegs' Johnny Temple.

One losing streak ended and another was continued as the Boston Red Sox took a 10-6 slugfest over the Washington Senators. A five-run seventh inning put the Sox over the top, with the key blow a two-run, pinch-hit single by rookie Harry Agganis.

The victory ended a five-game losing streak for Boston, while the Senators now have lost all of their eight spring training games.

The Cincinnati "B" team defeated the Philadelphia Phillies "B" squad 6-4.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Paul Jackson, youthful coach of the Philo Electrics, Muskingum County cage power, will be starting his charges on the road toward the state finals at Cleveland for the second straight year tonight when regional play opens at Ohio University in Athens.

SHORT

Jackson is married to the former Dorothy Wintringham, daughter of Mrs. Hazel Wintringham of 351½ S. Prospect St. He is well known in and around Marion and his many local friends are pulling for Philo and Mt. Gilead to clash next week at Cleveland for state laurels.

Thus far this season, the Electrics have rolled over 25 foes while dropping only one verdict. Last season, Jackson's charges were dropped by Mariemont in the state title brawl.

—:—

THE WINNERS romped to an 87-44 victory in the game in Cincinnati. A pivotman towering to the 6-11 mark led the champions' attack. The lanky center, Jerry Weber, pumped in 36 points as Philo dropped behind 17-0 in the opening minutes of the game.

The Philo coach advocates a slow, deliberate brand of play with no wasted or unnecessary shots. His cautious sharpshooters finished the past season with a shooting average of just under 50 per cent. They netted 65 per cent of their foul shots.

Their uncanny ability for the charity marker gave them their chance at state laurels last year. Canfield managed to force the Electrics into an overtime session before bowing 51-49 in the semi-final game. The losers outscored Philo 42-28 from the field but the Electrics held a 23-7 edge in fouls.

GOING STRONG. Jerry Wensinger, former basketball star at St. Mary High School, finished as one of the top performers in the intramural league at John Carroll University during the past winter.

The ex-Irish ace was a sparkplug of the Carroll Spanish Club quintet and finished third in the league's point-making derby. He finished the campaign with a 19-point average for the nine-game season. He along with teammate Jim DeMars, with a 15-point average, kept the Spanish Club in a contending position during the chase.

Johnson Takes Split Decision Over Andrews

CHICAGO (AP) — A light heavyweight title showdown between Harold Johnson and champion Archie Moore was shaping up today for the challenger's hometown, Philadelphia, this summer.

Johnson, 25, snapped out of a first-round knockdown to win a split decision over impressive Paul Andrews, 24, of Buffalo in Chicago Stadium last night.

In winning his 48th start in 53 bouts, Johnson had trouble working into Andrews, who at 6-3, towered over him and outranged him in punches by several inches. Andrews, an ex-paratrooper, outweighed Johnson by three pounds, 179 to 176.

Aside from the mandatory eight count knockdown in the opener of the nationally televised 10-rounder, Johnson was a clever, sharp boxer who threw four times as many punches as his somewhat cautious opponent and handled himself up to expectations of his No. 1 ranking as a contender.

Andrews, displaying a deft left hook and sneaky right, crashed home the left in the first and Johnson went down.

"I thought it was a right," Johnson said afterwards. "Those ring lights seemed awfully bright and I had to look up to that tall Andrews. The lights blinded me."

Johnson's date with Moore, whom he has met four times, may be in late June or early July.

"Moore still wants a $100,000 guarantee," said Johnson.

Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, said the match was in the making for Philadelphia.

KENTUCKY TOUGHEST

CINCINNATI (AP) — Members of the Xavier University basketball team yesterday picked Kentucky's Wildcats as the toughest team they faced in a 30-game schedule in which they won 18 and lost 12. The Musketeers lost 2 to Kentucky but 1 of them—at Lexington—was by only a 77-71 margin.

Archery Club Seats Officers

Annual election of officers was held when the Marion Archers met recently at the home of E. J. Leadenham, club secretary.

Frank Louck of 308 E. Farming St. was elected president while Leadenham was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Dr. R. E. Eicher of 240 Homer St. and C. L. Baker of near Marion were elected to the board of governors. Louck and Leadenham fill out the board.

Plans are being made for an invitational archers meet to be held by the local archers in August. Archers from all sections of the state are invited to participate in the meet which will consist of a practice hunting round prior to the Michigan and Pennsylvania hunting seasons.

Next archery meet of the local club will be March 28 at East Liberty, O., a 56-target field meet. The local archers on the following week, April 4, will travel to Yellow Springs, for the national rover shoot held each year at the John Bryan State Park. Archers from all over Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky will attend the meet.

The local archers attended a foul weather shoot at the new Linden Archers of Columbus range last Sunday afternoon in which Don Inskeep, top Marion archer, is believed to have placed. However, returns of the meet have not been announced. Approximately 100 archers competed in the meet despite cold weather and snow.

The local organization is interested in setting up a permanent field range and is now seeking a tract of land to rent or lease for that purpose.

Bill Outlawing Beer-Baseball Tie-In Debated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) goes to bat before a Senate judiciary subcommittee today in support of his bill aimed at ousting August Busch, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, from pro baseball.

There was no indication in advance of the hearing as to how much backing Johnson had gained for his legislation, which would make baseball clubs owned by beer or liquor interests subject to the nation's anti-trust laws.

Senatorial sources said the fate of the legislation apparently rests on the case Johnson builds up today. The Colorado senator is president of the Class A Western League.

Johnson accused Busch of using baseball to help him peddle beer and said this was an illustration of "the most obnoxious and savage brand of monopoly ever known in these United States."

MARATHON POSTPONED

A basketball marathon, scheduled this week at Magnetic Springs High School, has been postponed for approximately a month, committee spokesmen said. The event, planned as a benefit for the Keever Polio Foundation, will be rescheduled as soon as possible. The event was postponed to avoid conflict with a Union County junior high school tourney being held there this week.

St. Patrick's Feature

St. Mary Athletic Teams Are Honored at Banquet

By GARY SAMS

St. Mary Parochial High School's sports season was climaxed last night at the annual St. Patrick's Day athletics awards dinner in the ballroom of Hotel Harding with the presentation of basketball and football awards — letters, belt buckles and gold footballs and basketballs—to Irish footballers and cagers.

Coach Ray Robbins presented varsity awards to 21 Irish football and 12 basketball players and to five managers and the six St. Mary cheerleaders before a crowd of more than 200 students, parents and friends.

Grid Letters Given

Varsity basketball awards went to Anderson, Ballenger, Kraft, Merchant, Messenger, Richard and Roger Micheli, Mounts, O'Connor, O'Keeffe, Ryan and Shoemaker.

Coach Robbins also presented awards to managers Jim Ballenger, Bob Schmidt and Don Everly in football and Schmidt and Bob Niggemeyer and Carmen Morbitt in basketball and to Cheerleaders Mary Jo Dwyer and Mary Ellen Krigbaum, both seniors, and Noel Frey, Rosemary Frisina, Kay Gilmore and Nancy O'Connor.

Reserve basketball awards were presented by Coach Dan McGinnis to Jim Campton, Jerry Cornely, Gary Howman, John Kelly, Larry Kelly, Dick King, Bill Lavender, Joe Ledford, Bob McMahan, Joe Millisor, Bill Robbins, Al Sansotta, Butch Simpson, Jon Smith, John Spangler, Francis Thome and Jerry Wilhelm.

Not present to receive his varsity basketball and football awards was Jack McNamara while Gene Wurm was also not present to receive his reserve basketball award.

Presentation of awards followed an address by Very Reverend William J. Spickerman, V.F., pastor of St. Mary Catholic Church and principal speaker. He told the group that they were there not only to honor the boys but to honor the Patron Saint of Ireland who planted religion on the shores of Ireland.

Micheli Honored

An annual award for the St. Mary cager with the highest shooting percentage was presented during the awards program to Roger Micheli. Coach Robbins told the audience that he had hit on 102 of 251 attempts from the field, or more than 41 per cent of his shots, and 51 of 70 foul attempts for 73 per cent.

Prior to the presentation of awards, Coach Robbins introduced persons at the head table and others who were instrumental in the success of St. Mary athletics the past year and praised them.

Entertainment during the program following the dinner included a song by a quartet composed of John Messenger, Leo Kelleher, Francis Thome and Dick Micheli; an Irish jig performed by five junior girls, Mary Elsasser, Mary Simpson, Rita O'Connor, Jackie Schill and Kay Jackson; and a soft shoe dance presented by six senior girls, Mary Jo Dwyer, Marilyn McMahan, Jane Cash, Fran Jackson, Sandy Cornely and Mary Ellen Krigbaum.

Peggy Dennis and Mary Ellen Krigbaum provided piano music for the singing of Irish songs by the group and the pair of dance numbers.

Henry Davis, who assisted Coach Robbins during the past year in football, was toastmaster, Reverend Robert Gately gave the invocation and Reverend Spickerman the benediction.

Davis, during the program, complimented the Irish athletes on their fine records in both basketball and football. St. Mary went 7-1 in football, winning the first Mid-Ohio Conference title, and completed a 15-8 basketball mark.

The St. Mary basketball and football teams presented gifts to the Irish coaches, with Coach Robbins receiving a shot gun.

Following the awards dinner, St. Mary couples danced until midnight in the Hotel Harding ballroom to the music of Billy Johnston and his orchestra from Green Camp.

Table decorations, green carnations, white stocks and huckleberry foliage, carried out the St. Patrick's Day theme.

Luther League Holds Annual Parents' Party

Confirmation Class Recognition Service Highlights Program

An annual parent party was held by the Luther League of Emanuel Lutheran Church Tuesday night at the church. About 165 persons, including league members and their parents, were present. The theme was "The Shamrock" with a religious meaning, the Trinity or the Triune God. Tables were decorated in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

A family worship period preceded the dinner with Ernest Williams reading scripture, Robert Meister giving the explanation, and Murray Leeper offering prayer.

Parents Introduced

Highlighting the program was a recognition service for the confirmation class which will be confirmed on Palm Sunday and then become league members. Parents of the new members were introduced and each new member was given a packet containing league information, a head of Christ picture for a billfold, and a medallion of the Luther coat of arms.

For entertainment, a one-act comedy, "The Life of The Party" by Donald Payton, was presented by the dramatic committee, with Marilyn Porter as chairman. Taking part in the play were Dick Williams, Jack Kerr, Ruth Augenstein, Lenora Dune, Marilyn Porter, Joyce Willey, Charles Kaelber, James Kantzer, Larry Davis, Ruth Williams, Judy Wilson and Annette Meister.

Closing Service

For a closing service, the group went to the fourth floor chapel where a fellowship circle was formed. Lighted candles were on the altar and at either side. As the group entered Anita Porter and Karen Syster sang "Thine Is the Power," and the hymn, "In the Secret of His Presence," was recited by Sara Meister, Lenora Dune, Don Baughman and Murray Leeper. The benediction followed.

This was followed by the League members showing their parents the fourth floor facilities and displays of the year's work, games and a social hour.

The committee in charge of arrangements was composed of Marlene Davis, chairman, Joyce Willey, Charles Kaelber, Doug Jevas, Johanna Harris, Jack Hale, Jane Barnhart, Carol Hollensen, Carolyn Peterson aid Bob LaBounty.

At the next league meeting, April 6, guest night will be observed. Merle Wise will speak and an Easter devotional period will be held.

Crawford League Discusses Fishing Program, Projects

BUCYRUS — Monday night, when the Crawford County Conservation League met at the clubhouse, east of here, results of the first fishing class for school-age boys and the organization of a Beagle club within the county were announced.

Vice president, Milo Price, of Galion, announctd that the objective in sponsoring and teaching fishing to school age boys is to instruct them in the use of spinning, casting, fly fishing, and to promote sportsmanship and encourage conservation.

Fred Ernst, Crawford County game protector, said that the League of Ohio Sportsmen is sponsoring the teaching of gun safety to youthful hunters. He suggested that the Crawford County Conservation League endorse and promote such a project in the county. Another project discussed was the creation of an archery range at the League grounds for use of youthful archers.

Marion Man Sentenced To Term in Penitentiary

BUCYRUS — Gerald Edward Dunaway, 21, of Marion, formerly of Galion, was sentenced Tuesday in Common Pleas Court here to an indeterminate period in Ohio State Penitentiary. Dunaway changed his plea to guilty on two counts, breaking and entering and stealing two motor vehicles.

Judge John C. Carroll ruled that the sentences are to be served concurrently. Dunaway was bound over to the Crawford County grand jury under two $2,000 bonds in municipal court in Galion on charges of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent and breaking and entering.

Both charges were the result of burglary and automobile theft at the Earl A. Wiener garage, Galion.

Dayton Man Killed

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—W. H. Wilson, 27, of Dayton was killed and a companion was injured today when a car crashed into a concrete culvert and upset on U.S. 35 about 10 miles northwest of here.

Wilson suffered a fractured skull. The driver of the car, Charles Fitzpatrick, 20, also of Dayton received a broken collarbone.

Cincinnati Eyes Art Fowler as Relief Hurler

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs don't know yet whether they have found any new and dependable starting pitchers but Manager Birdie Tebbetts believes they have an adequate addition to the relief staff.

The pitcher is Art Fowler, bought from Atlanta of the Southern Association last fall on a conditional basis.

"It looks like he's just the right type of pitcher to bolster our relief department," said Tebbetts yesterday after Fowler had completed a four inning chore against the Detroit Tigers in which he allowed five hits but no runs.

"He knows the strike zone," added the Reds' manager.

Fowler, Jim Melton and Jack Crimian combined the pitching duties yesterday as the Reds whipped Detroit, 4-1, and the only Tiger run was unearned as Johnny Temple committed a ninth inning error.

Tennessee Tax Officials Seek Data on Trucks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio officials plan to talk over truck tax reciprocity today with officials from Tennessee—a state Ohio Tax Commissioner Stanley J. Bowers calls "very cooperative."

That cooperation will be a pleasant change for the Ohioans, who have been set upon from all sides since the passage of the new axle-mile tax on trucks. Ohio refuses to exempt out-of-state trucks from the tax.

Bowers said the meeting would be just an "exchange of ideas."

He said he has heard rumors Tennesses is contemplating passing a weight-distance tax of its own.

Tennessee is one of the few Southern states which have not threatened or taken retaliatory action in the form of imposing license and other fees on Ohio truckers.

The new Ohio tax affects trucks with three or more axles—whether or not they be Ohio-licensed trucks.

Last night Gov. Frank J. Lausche broke his silence on reports that Ohio truckers were changing their base of operations to escape the Ohio tax and retaliatory taxes of other states.

He told a reporter trucks leaving Ohio to escape the taxes will come back. Truckers will find the burden of operating in other states greater than that of operating in Ohio, he said.

"I know the details of the truckers' operations and what their problems are in other states. Ohio still will be their place of business in spite of what they say, because economically they cannot afford to move out."

Lausche said fees in other states are harder on truckers than they are in Ohio.

Even if the truckers who leave don't come back, the governor said their loss is "inconsequential" compared with the loss Ohio would take if it exempted out-of-state truckers from the axle-mile tax.

Tribe Players Request Advice From Al Lopez

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A good baseball manager is sometimes more than just a guy who shuffles the lineup and criticizes. He must know when to encourage, too.

Take Manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians. About to take a shower, he was interrupted by a knock on his hotel room door. It was pitcher Mike Garcia, bashed for 17 runs in 3 innings in 2 exhibition games.

"What's wrong with me?" asked the winner of 18 games last season.

Lopez looked over the crestfallen hurler and replied:

"Mike, you don't have that good fast ball yet. You're older and it takes longer for your arm to get strong. We'll give you more assignments."

Garcia left with his morale much higher. Then came another visitor, Al Rosen, voted the American League's most valuable player last year.

"What's wrong with me, Al?" he asked, "Why is it I'm not hitting?"

Lopez: "You've been batting against pitchers who pitched all winter. They're ahead of you, that's all."

Yesterday's exhibition with the Chicago Cubs in Mesa was canceled because of rain.

Seeks To Answer Critics

'New Look' Defense Is Reviewed by Ike

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have had five tries at explaining the administration's "new look" in defense. Now maybe the questions about it will subside a while.

Putting together what the two men said—Eisenhower in two news conferences and Dulles in a speech, a news conference and a magazine article—the "new look" seems to come down to this:

Any enemy attack will be met in a way and with weapons that fit the situation. By not giving flat answers now to every possible situation, the U.S. government keeps the other side guessing.

But statements by Eisenhower and Dulles already have caused guessing in the non-Communist world too.

DULLES BEGAN the puzzlement in a Jan. 12 speech in which he said this country's defense would depend primarily upon "massive" power to retaliate "instantly" at a time and place chosen by this country.

The words "massive" and "instantly" conjured up visions of atomic bombs and immediate counterattack. Did he mean an atomic attack on China if the Red Chinese moved into Indochina against the French?

If Russia in such a case came to China's assistance, as she probably would, that meant World War III. How would American allies feel about an attack on China that would plunge them into world war?

At his news conference last week Eisenhower was asked: Would this country get into war if a few American troops, now in Indochina servicing, but not flying French planes, were killed?

—:—

THE PRESIDENT shot back this reply, which he later said might be quoted directly:

"There is going to be no war involvement of America in war unless it is a result of the constitutional process that is placed upon Congress to declare it. Now, let us have that clear."

It was anything but clear. In the first place, it seemed to contradict Dulles' statement on instant retaliation.

And did Eisenhower mean that under no circumstance would this country retaliate against a Communist attack unless Congress, perhaps after much delay, formally declared war?

In a news conference of his own this week, and in a magazine article, Dulles said in some cases, such as an attack on this country's European allies, Eisenhower could order a counterattack without waiting for Congress.

Now Dulles seemed to be contradicting Eisenhower. So Eisenhower was asked about it at his news conference yesterday. He said he still, in a general way, stuck to his statement there'd be no war without congressional say-so.

—:—

BUT THEN HE began to make exceptions: for instance, if the United States were attacked by air, American reaction would have to be swift and perhaps could not wait on Congress.

Boiled down, this is what he said: You have to do one thing in one situation, something else in another.

But this is hardly a "new look."

Administration officials are showing dislike for a phrase like "new look"—Eisenhower himself dislikes it, says he despises slogans—and are talking of the defense policy as being "evolutionary."

What is it evolving from? From the defense policy of former President Truman. This is an explanation:

Truman believed in collective security—having allies and air bases around Russia. He made the alliances. Eisenhower and Dulles believe the same way and are keeping the alliances. So there's nothing new in that.

Before Korea Truman believed in keeping the armed forces small to keep down expenses, putting main reliance on atom bombs and the planes to deliver them as the big deterrent against big aggression.

—:—

THE EISENHOWER administration believes in air power to deliver "massive" retaliation as a deterrent to aggression, plus new weapons that have been developed. There is nothing basically new in that.

The Korean outbreak—carrying with it shocked realization other attacks might come and that American forces were ill-equipped for a big war—started Truman on the road to building up the armed forces in a rush.

When Eisenhower came in he took a look at this defense planning—a look which got the name of "new look"—and decided to slow down the buildup to cut down the expense to a point he thought could be borne over a long period.

That decision to reduce expenses and the size of the armed forces might be considered new but was the evolutionary product of what had gone before.

Ohio Advice Aired in Capital

Farmers Present Views On Fighting Communism

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some farmers in Wayne Twp. (Pickaway County) Ohio give this as the best formula to control communism:

"The State Department ought to send every now or 'has been' commie back to Russia on the next boat—no alibis accepted."

On the other hand, a group of farmers in Knox County, Ohio, say:

"We believe we have little to fear from communism as long as we have a good standard of living and adequate employment."

Those are two of the answers the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation received to the question, "How great a threat is communism?" The bureau asked its county advisory councils to discuss the subject. Here are some of the other answers distributed by the group's officials during their two-day annual visit here:

Adams County, Liberty No. 1: "We decided communism was not too big a threat to our nation as long as we had council groups working and thinking together."

Warren County, No. 2: "Some members think a strong armament program would make Russia afraid to attack us. Others believe this would cause an armament race which would eventually break into a war."

Darke, North Central: "We feel (Sen.) McCarthy is trying to do his job, but his methods aren't always good . . . if we have a general, senator or any government official who the committee is sure is a communist, let's get him out. But let's use a little more tact."

Gallia, Little Kyger: "The group was divided on military power—but thought we should belong to the United Nations."

Morgan, Old Faithful: "It was discussed and decided that the United States should use the atom bomb after Russia does."

Madison, No. 5: "Sen. McCarthy's investigations were deemed justified."

Ross, Huntington: Education is the key. Competent leadership is necessary."

Wyandot: "We do approve President Eisenhower's decision to use the atom bomb in Russia if Communists start war anywhere in the world. And we think we should belong to the United Nations."

Paulding: "Stay in the United Nations. Also: While the group felt there might be some danger of losing their liberties in trying to overcome communism there was no doubt that we would lose it if we didn't overcome it."

Adams, Lower Spring: "Do not approve President Eisenhower's decision to use the atom bomb on Russia if Communists start war anywhere in the world."

Hancock, Union: "We believe (communism) should be handled by the Federal Bureau of Investigation for they are more capable of dealing with that sort of thing."

Champaign: "It was felt Russia was using her veto powers too much. We should not place our reliance entirely on air force but teach more patriotism to our young people in order to prepare them for all propaganda and less ready to find fault with out leaders in their work."

Pre-School Clinics To Be Held in City Week of April 26

Announcement of the dates for pre-school clinics in Marion was made today by Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health officer.

The clinics will be held in elementary schools in the city during the week from April 26 through 30, he said.

He'd in cooperation with the Marion Academy of Medicine, the Marion County Dental Society and the Parent-Teachers Association, purpose of the clinics is to discover health problems which may exist among children entering city schools for the first time next fall. Parents will be advised of any such health factors discovered and advised whether or not corrective measures should be undertaken.

Parents will be asked to take their children to the elementary school they will enter in the fall for the check-ups, Dr. Weinbaum said.

Exact schedules of hours and days the clinics will be held in each school will be announced later.

City of Long Beach Sued for $12 Million By Howard Hughes

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The city of Long Beach has been presented a claim for 12 million dollars for damages to Howard Hughes' huge wooden flying boat in the collapse of an earth dike last fall.

The claim said the dike, erected by a dredging concern employed by the city, released mud, silt and water on Hughes' property where the 44-million-dollar experimental craft is docked.

The claim alleges negligence and carelessness against the dredging company and resultant damage to equipment, records, installations and other property.

Hughes' flying boat has been moored at the harbor for years. He had planned to have it test flown last October, but his engineers said they cannot estimate how long will be required to complete repairs.

Prophets of doom, of course, are not new; the unusual thing is for them to show up this far ahead of the football season.

2 PTA Groups Hear Address By Psychiatrist

A joint meeting of the Pearl Street and Vernon Grade Schools was held Tuesday night at Vernon school with the latter as the host group.

Guest speaker was Dr. Charles Harding, psychiatrist at the Harding Sanitarium at Worthington. His talk was on "Mental Health" which he divided into four phases. They were love, praise, understanding and being constant.

"Love," he said, "is of the utmost importance and should be given to a child without strings attached." He added that a child does not owe a parent anything but a parent does owe his child something.

Speaking of the second phase, praise, he said that parents should praise their children but use good judgment in so doing. He said do not underrate a child or overrate him, adding that constructive criticism is good.

Under the third, understanding, Dr. Harding urged parents to understand their children from a mature viewpoint, and further urged them to recall their youth so as to have a better understanding of their children.

Discussing being constant, he said parents should always be constant and give a child a definite yes or no answer, never maybe. When you make a promise, he said, keep it.

A general discussion followed.

Dr. Harding was introduced by Arthur Haas.

Devotions were conducted by Rev. Ashley Booth, pastor of Central Christian Church, and special music was given by a German Band of Harding High School, composed of Roger Ward, Jerry Emery, Ted Pollock, Roger Walraven and Paul Foster. A welcome to the Pearl Street members was extended by Jack Bray, president of the Vernon PTA. Attendance awards were won by Miss Ruth Edward's first grade room at Vernon and Mrs. Fleta Hankel's second grade room at Pearl Street.

Lawrence County Schools Still Have 2 Superintendents

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Lawrence County again has two acting school superintendents.

Adams County Common Pleas Judge James W. Lang yesterday dissolved a temporary injunction barring W. Donald Russell from acting as superintendent.

That means it's up to the school board. William Paul—the other superintendent—and Russell to figure out among themselves who is the head man. Neither side apparently wants to give an inch.

The board appointed Paul when it took over in January. But the previous board last year had appointed Russell for a five-year term.

Try Rollup Fish Dish for Lenten Meal

Crumbs, Shrimp Stuffed Fillets for Delicious Dinner Course

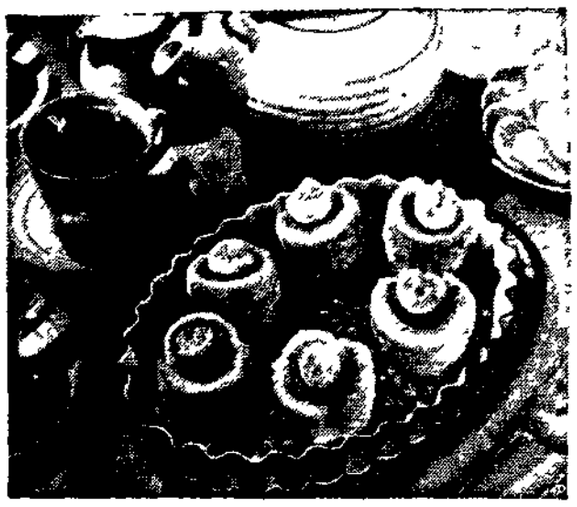
By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Frankly fancy, is how we describe this rollup fish dish It's made to order for any good cook who wants to give a Lenten meal a lift A recipe to keep for after Lent, too because it adds a fillup to always - available and thrifty fillets

The fillets are stuffed with buttery crumbs, shrimp and beaten egg — a delectable combination When we served this dish we accompanied it with green peas because such a mild vegetable does not overpower the delicate flavor of the stuffing If peas are your choice, use a small amount of water when cooking them and add a tablespoon of butter or margarine a dash of salt and one of sugar to the water Yes we said sugar That smidgen of sweet won't change the true flavor of the peas — it will just accent it

We like a crisp salad after this fish dish — tossed greens enlivened with thin cucumber slices and Roquefort cheese is a favorite combination If we are making the salad a little ahead of the meal we put the greens and cucumber slices in our wooden bowl, crumble or cut the Roquefort right in cover the bowl tightly and refrigerate Just before serving we dress the salad with olive oil wine vinegar salt and freshly ground pepper using three or four tablespoons of oil to one of vinegar

Hot tea, properly brewed, is a fine go-along for this meal with fish we like lemon with our tea



ADD GLAMOR to fish fillets with buttered breadcrumb and shrimp filling

but your family may prefer milk or cream Born in Ireland the blue eyed and merry helper in our household, insists cream is the proper accompaniment to tea Even though we quote professional tea-tasters as having laid down the edict that milk brings out the best tea flavor she is strong in her convictions'

But we are both in agreement with the tea-tasters when it comes to tea brewing The teapot must be rinsed with boiling water tea and water must be measured the water must be freshly boiled and the brew must steep about five minutes If you are a stickler about serving hot beverages hot rinse the teacups with very hot water'

It may be that you use tea bags rather than loose tea sometimes we use the first sometimes the second We find that 'tea bag tea' tastes best made in a teapot — and we like to add an extra bag for the pot We've been cautioned lately about dunking tea bags up and down for dunking cools the water The correct method we understand is to let the tea and water quietly unite

If you wish to preface this Lenten meal with a first course either chilled tomato juice or hot tomato soup is a good choice Serve a hot bread too one round of it with the main course one after

Adlai Presents First of Three-Harvard Talks

CAMBRIDGE, Mass (AP)—Adlai Stevenson says Americans "must be careful" of their words because foreign opinions are formed from "the composite of the voices of America, official and unofficial, true and false."

We do not realize what injury needless words and bad manners do us abroad,' the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate told an audience at Harvard University last night in the first of a series of three lectures.

He will deliver the second Godkin Lecture tonight and the final on Friday night. The general subject is 'A Troubled World."

'There is still another danger in loud, loose tongues,' he said. "We not only confuse and mislead foreigners but we can mislead and deceive ourselves, we can become the victims of our own propaganda especially in times of tension and impatience.

"In these days when moderation and reason are so often equated with appeasement or even disloyalty we must be careful lest unreason and extremism not only frighten and alienate our friends and fan the flames of neutralism in the world but also mislead the American people."

He said Americans are "accustomed to political bad manners and Billingsdate adding that we have 'developed some immunity to vilification abuse and misrepresentation in our domestic public dialogues.'

'But now the situation has changed with the chance in America's position in the world, he said. "Everyone is listening attentively to what we say but without even our imperfect capacity to evaluate its significance."

Need for Local Revenue Cited

Auditors Asked To Check Closely on Tax Payments

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP)—The state tax commissioner today asked county auditors to redouble their efforts to see that everyone subject to Ohio personal and intangible property taxes pays them

Ohio's 88 counties last year collected 115 million dollars in personal property taxes and 25 million in intangible property taxes Stanley J Bowers state tax commissioner said that amounted to one-third of all taxes collected locally

"The present need of additional revenue by local governments is urgent," he said in a message to county auditors "We all know that each year substantial revenue is lost because all who are subject to these taxes do not file returns

This places an additional burden of taxation upon persons who file returns Many fail to file returns because of their ignorance of the law others because of dishonesty or indifference to their legal obligations

Personal property tax returns and intangible property tax returns must be filed before March 31 The taxes are used for local schools libraries and health police and fire services Local county auditors have tax forms

Productive investments are taxed at 5 per cent on the income yield deposits at 2 mills on the dollar, and unproductive investments at 2 mills on each dollar valuation in the intangible property category

All persons, partnerships associations and corporations engaged in business such as manufacturers merchants farmers lawyers doctors dentists and accountants are required to file personal property tax returns

All Ohio residents owning intangible property are required to file returns Intangible property includes stocks bonds and notes

Marine Corps Boasts of Its "Foreign' Unit

KANEOHE, Hawaii (UP) — America's "foreign legion" is approximately stationed at the crossroads of the world, Hawaii, and the members are all Marines.

The roster here at the Kaneohe Marine Air Station reads like the general assembly of the United Nations. There are two Pilipino Marines, two Japanese who fought the Americans in World War II, a former member of the Wehrmacht and a Pole who arrived here via the displaced persons route. A Mexican, Englishman, Scotsman Samoan, and a Czech known only as "Corporal X" also are in the outfit.

The identity of "Corporal X" in classified by the Corps to prevent possible retaliation by the Communists against relatives who are still in Czechoslovakia.

"X" escaped from behind the Iron Curtain five years ago by crawling through minefields and dodging Red patrols. He spent two years in England, and then came to America where he joined the Marines. He has served 22 months, most of them in Hawaii.

Norway's member is Brynjulv G. Berge, a photographer, who travelled all the way from Scandinavia to join the Marine Corps.

The Samoan member of this unique company is PFC Ione Ma'ae. Ma'ae was born in American Samoa and joined the Marines at Pago Pago, got his basic training there, and has never been in the United States.

Seiyu Komesu of Japan was wounded twice by the Marines on Okinawa during the fighting for the island in 1945. He was picked up by Marine corpsmen and hospitalized until the end of the war. He is now a private at Kaneohe.

The second Japanese-born Marine at Kaneohe is PFC Haruyuki Shintaku. Shintaku was a student at Hiroshima when the city was atom-bombed, and he was injured in the blast. He later came to the U. S. to school, and ended up by joining the Marines.

The former Nazi soldier is PFC Fred A. Hannak, 26, who fought the Americans in World War II as a soldier in a German Panzer unit.

China's representative is PFC Yen Der who fled his homeland at the beginning of World War II to escape the Japanese, and ended up in San Francisco and a Marine recruiting office.

The combat team's bandmaster M-Sgt. Bartholomew LaRocca, was born in Sicily and served through several Marine campaigns in the Pacific.

The two Filipino Marines started soldiering at an early age. PFC Teodorico Cabalo was only 15 when he became a guerrilla in World War II and fought the Japanese on Mindanao. His buddy PFC Cesario S. Sabio, was captured by the Japanese when he was 17 and was under sentence of death when he escaped.

The members of this "foreign legion" emphasize one point—that theirs is no legion of lost souls seeking adventure. Those who are not yet U. S. citizens hope to be. As "Corporal X" put it:

"Too many of us have seen other types of government that are aimed at tearing down and destroying our ideals. We are willing to fight to see that the American freedoms continue."

THANKS

To all of my customers for making my job as a Star newspaperboy so profitable and such fun!

THANKS in particular to those customers who . . .

1. PAY ME ON TIME and try their best to pay me in small bills that I am likely to have change for. You know if we fail to collect our money from you we are the ones who lose. We buy our newspapers from The Star and like any businessman must pay our bills each whether we collect or not. MY profit is affected when you don't pay.

2. CHECK THE CIRCUMSTANCES BEFORE MAKING A COMPLAINT You know I get sick once in a while too. I sometimes have to have a helper or a substitute who may be slower in getting your paper around. Then too, you know the weather may hold me up at times. Please check carefully before you complain.

3. REALIZE I AM TRYING MY BEST and that I appreciate a friendly smile in return for the one I give.

4. KEEP THEIR DOGS TIED You know, this can be a problem at times. When an untethered dog takes after me it slows up my route and makes things just that much tougher.

It's folks like you who really make a newspaper route a swell job! Thanks again.

Wyoming Fossils Used To Help Fill Time Gap

WASHINGTON (UP) — Recent exploration in south - western Wyoming has shed new light on the vast span of time between the last of the dinosaurs and the appearance of animals similar to those living today

Many of the fossils were collected and brought to the Smithsonian Institution here for classification and study Previously unknown they will help breech a gap of 55 000 000 years

The largest and most interesting of the specimens was a vegetation eating creature about the size of the present day bear Its scientific name is the pantolambda Although only its skull was found scientists have determined that the pantolambda did not even remotely resemble any living animal

In Peru flutes are made from the leg bones of llamas

3 More Useful Products of Atomic Piles

New Isotopes Bolster Atomic Medicine

By THOMAS R. HENRY

WAHINGTON (NANA) — Three new radioactive isotopes — products of atomic piles at government laboratories — now have been brought into the field of medicine. These are Germanium, arsenic and the very rare, greenish rare earth metal thulium.

This extension of the still quite limited field of atomic medicine has just been announced by the Atomic Energy Commission.

One of the isotopes of arsenic promises to be of considerable value in locating brain tumors. According to investigations being carried out at Massachusetts General Hospital. When injected into the blood stream, it concentrates slightly in cancerous tissue. This makes it possible to locate the diseased tissue by special detection instruments.

THE BROOKHAVEN national laboratory is studying the use of germanium needles injected directly into malignant growths. The radioactive isotope of germanium can be incorporated in such a needle in any desired amount. The material is slowly dissolved in the body fluids and eventually vanishes.

Preliminary investigations at the Argonne National Laboratory at the University of Chicago indicate that radioactive thulium may have properties which will make it valuable as a source of radiation in portable units, which will require no power supply.

While therapeutic use of radioactive isotopes still remains much less than was predicted in the early days of atomic energy, these "tracers" of physiological processes are making possible a much better understanding of the phenomena of life.

—:—

THE COMMISSION reported that a group of University of Chicago investigators uncovered evidence of the existence in the blood stream of "antibody precursors" which are not identical with any of the known blood elements.

When germs invade the body, cells known as antibodies are formed to combat them. These antibodies are specific for different diseases. Their formation is the basis for all immunization procedures.

It had been assumed that they were modified white blood cells. The new findings suggest, however, that they are not formed from existing blood cells but are synthesized independently.

THE SYNTHESIS APPEARS to begin almost at once after injection of a foreign protein into the blood stream so that a considerable amount has been formed before it is first evident in a blood examination. A search is being made of various tissues to locate the antibody during the early period of production, or to demonstrate the possibility of an antibody "precursor."

Also through use of isotopes, the commission announced, considerable information is being accumulated on the mechanisms of edema, or swelling of the body and on the relation of mineral content of the diet to the control of high blood pressure and complications in kidney diseases. Other investigations deal with the movement of substances from the blood stream through the capillary walls into the fluids bathing the various body cells, and from there through cell walls into the cell itself.

Based on membership in learned societies, the center of population of American scientists and technologists is a point in southwestern Ohio.

4 Million Out of Work Could Be Costly to GOP

November Employment Total May Decide Elections

By ROY ROBERTS

KANSAS CITY, Mo (NANA) — "Tell me," said a veteran Washington politico, "how many unemployed there will be next November, and I will tell you how the congressional elections will come out"

Then carrying this rough rule of thumb formula further, he added that in his judgment if the pickup in business and industry, which the administration so confidently anticipates, became a reality and there were only 3,000,000 or fewer on the unemployed list come election day, the Republicans would be a shoo-in to control both the House and Senate — by a narrow margin, of course — for the next two years

On the other hand, if the unemployment figures reached 4 000,000 or thereabout, nothing on earth the administration could do would prevent the Democrats taking over probably both House and Senate, certainly the House In between that range, the outcome would be dubious with a chance of the GOP holding one body — the Senate — and the Democrats capturing the House, somewhat substantially (The government said this week unemployment had risen to 3,671,000)

Of course, this is just a guess, but certainly from an experienced source, and about the most intelligent sumup the writer found in Washington.

DESPITE ALL THE cocksure predictions emanating from both party headquarters now, there seems to be a pretty general consensus that the vital battle for control of Congress hangs in the balance still It will be determined by events yet to come in the months ahead and the political currents that set in early next fall

Much, of course depends upon how much of the big program Ike has proposed for the country gets congressional approval before the voters go to the polls.

Of course, some dramatic turn in the foreign picture could completely change the picture and prove decisive But, curiously, there seems to be a general feeling that there can't and won't be much improvement or worsening in the world peace field in the near future More of the same with ebbs up and down in the cold war with Russia, is the most likely thing in the cards

Also, there appears to be a complete shift in the perspective The outcome in November is more apt to turn on the races in the big industrial states rather than the farm belt as so many have been forecasting.

THERE SEEMED to be more confidence in the Democratic camp over the November results than in the GOP councils That largely is based upon a very simple fundamental assumption If the Republicans could win only a squeaky majority in the House and manage only to deadlock the Senate in a landslide of the proportions with which President Eisenhower swept the country, the Democrats ask, how can the GOP expect to win this year without the popular Ike on the ticket? And no Democrat discounts the President's popularity with the people.

If Ike were running they concede, it might be a difficult story This does not necessarily follow but it makes some sense If a country has full employment and prosperity is on the upgrade, seldom does the party in power fail to benefit That also makes some sense but again isn't an infallible yardstick On off years, local issues often weigh heavily.

To date, the performance of the Republican Senate in its failure to go along with President Eisenhower more harmoniously certainly hasn't built up much of a case before the voters for giving Ike a Congress to support him.

THE HOUSE, even though the margin of control is razor-edge slim has functioned smoothly and with fine good will While they may not agree with the White House thinking on every specific detail of legislation and policy, Speaker Joe Martin and the floor leader, Representative Charles Halleck of Indiana have stood out in their leadership Their teamwork with the White House has been both efficient and certainly cooperative

Of course, the House being such a large cumbersome body, has to function a good deal through the Rules Committee and that makes for party responsibility Also they do have a majority, even if it is down almost to the vanishing point. The House is slowly but surely writing a record that can well appeal to the voters as standing by the Eisenhower program Of course, the major part of the record is yet to be made.

What's the matter with the senate? You get that question everywhere in Washington There are three basic factors that largely make for the present breach — and it is little short of that — between the White House and the Senate First the Republicans although responsible with committee control, haven't a majority.

THIS SITUATION IS made to order for the "lone wolves" Some senators can play their own game — Wayne Morse of Oregon, who went completely off the deep end, Bill Langer of North Dakota, who made a nauseous onslaught on Chief Justice Warren or even Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin, although the latter carries along with him very substantial backing, which the other two don't They know full well they can get away with it They can't be disciplined or slapped down too far, or even nominal control of the Senate by the Republicans would evaporate To get any program through the Senate, Democratic votes have to be won President Eisenhower, being so nonpolitical himself and seeking to take a middle-ground role on domestic policy is admirably placed to cooperate with the Democrats

While they may go along and cooperate on a legislative program it's too much to expect, just isn't humanly possible, for the Democrats to swing into line to help the GOP control or discipline their problem children The confusion that has resulted, they believe, will help them in the congressional election They disliked Wayne Morse so much they were willing to go along with the Republican leadership to strip him of committes But beyond that it's another story They can't be blamed for feeling that way It's only human

A second and equally important factor is that the Republicans in the Senate had been a minority so long they weren't prepared to accept the responsibilities of power. In short, they didn't have a cohesive, smooth functioning sense of party discipline or responsibility A minority doesn't have to There isn't a Republican in the Senate who has served under a Republican president before That's one thing twenty years of unbroken Democratic occupancy of the White House did

WOLF-PACK POLITICS — each man for himself — always develops when the party is a minority too long The Democrats had the same problem during the many years of unbroken GOP control of the White House in the decades long past

Wolf-pack tactics aren't so important in a minority They always have one catalyst or common denominator that can bring them together — being "agin" the opposition The old sores and feuds that were tearing the Democratic party apart the last few years — North and South, Left winger and Right winger — still exist But there has been a most noticeable subsidence in the feuding The Democrats are beginning to fairly ooze harmony. Not that there has been any vital reconciliation in conflict of views of the past, Republicans

Third and probably most important of all as a contributing cause to the Senate situation and lack of unity in support of the Sen Robert Taft of Ohio His passing was a great loss to the nation but it meant far more to President Eisenhower and the success of his administration

Through the years, Bob Taft won the respect of his colleagues in the Senate as few men ever have Not just the Republicans curiously but the Democrats as well, especially the southern group The Left-Wing Democrats naturally hated him because of his potent influence

With no criticism intended of those who had to stop into the breach for it was a tremendous problem presented there was no one figure who commanded the respect and the experience in government like Taft The Senate missed him just as Ike has So much of the Senate cohesion went by the boards Real leadership doesn't come overnight no matter whom those put forward may be

169-Year-Old Clock Still Going Strong

OCONTO, Wis. (UP) — If you think your grandfather clock is old, consider the Oconto clock that has been ticking away for 168 years and shows no signs of wearing out.

Built in 1785 the clock was already old in 1842 when it crossed the Atlantic as the prized possession of its Irish immigrant owner William Malone He had learned the clock business by working nine years in the shop of a Kilkenny Ireland, clock and watchmaker.

After spending 14 years in Canada, Malone moved to Appleton Wis, where he set the clock up in his new jewelry store, one of the city's landmarks.

When he died, the clock stayed in the family and passed down to his grandson, Kenneth Ward of Oconto.

Ward didn't know the clock's age until recently when he took it to a local jewelry store for a checkup The jeweler, who found nothing wrong with the mechanism discovered the 1765 date scratched on the case

The jeweler said the old clock's face of porcelain enamel is as whate as the day it was made All the parts, made by hand are in good condition And he added that the mechanism, made of steel and brass has enough life in it to see the clock through several more generations

Federal Agents Given Rugged Time By Check Forgers

WASHINGTON (UP) — Forgers are cashing thousands of checks that the government mails out each month to federal employes, veterans, social security pensioners and other.

Secret Service Chief U E Baughman said the forgery racket is one of the toughest problems his agency has to deal with He believes it could be almost eliminated, if banks stores and others would obey the injunction printed on the back of every government check—'know your endorser"

The Secret Service last year investigated more than 31 000 forgeries of government checks worth a total of $2 187 367 (m) It arrested about 2 500 forgers

One of those arrested was a 64 - year - old Chicago man who boasted that he could make a $20 000-a-year tax - free income by stealing government checks and cashing them with forged endorsements

He was caught when he made the mistake of cashing a stolen non-government check with the company that had drawn it. The girl whose pay check he'd stolen happened to be behind the cashier's window

Baugman said one of the Secret Service's chief obstacles in forgery investigations is the lack of observation on the part of victums

One man stole checks from six friends while he visited in their homes The Secret Service had traced the forgeries to a short man wearing a bright blue jockey cap None of the six mentioned him when questioned by agents about a man of his description

And a Chicago tavern actually cashed a notice of discontinuance of allotment pay for a woman who also thought it was a check

Japan's Prosperity May Show Decline

TOKYO (UP)—The neon-tinted bubble of Japanese prosperity may soon burst, qualified Japanese and foreign economists warned.

These observers, who asked that they not be identified, predicted a major economic crisis here unless the Japanese government takes drastic measures.

Government officials, including Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida and the Bank of Japan governor, Hisato Ichimada, discount the possibility of a business collapse and claim the financial situation is being kept under control.

All quarters agree, however, that Japan's economy will be too shaky in 1954 to permit Japanese rearmament at the pace desired by the United States.

The economic danger signals already are obvious to all.

Inflation has eaten away 10 per cent of the value of the yen in the past eight months, and the inflationary spiral is picking up speed.

Despite the need for checking this trend, the government bowed to pressure and granted blanket wage increases and large year-end bonuses to government employes in December, setting a free-spending example that all business concerns felt impelled to follow.

Serious storm and flood damage to the rice crop, plus exaggeration of the extent of the crop loss, boosted the price of this staple last fall and carried all prices upward.

To meet the inflationary threat, the government promises a balanced budget for the fiscal year beginning next April and tightening of controls on bank loans. At the same time, however, there is official talk of tax reductions.

Inflation is eating away at Japan's lifeblood foreign trade. Japanese goods are being priced out of competition in world markets, partly because of the general domestic price rise, partly because the government and Bank of Japan have not forced the flow of capital into modernizing industrial production, economists point out. Bank loans have gone into construction of hotels, restaurants, office buildings and other semi-luxuries.

The crutch of American military spending in Japan to support the Korean war effort and U. S. defense forces here is being whittled away by the armistice. Only this windfall kept Japan's foreign exchange balance in the black the past two years. It will not be enough this year.

The Bank of Japan predicts a foreign exchange deficit of more than $200,000,000 this fiscal year, and the drop in American spending here accounts for only about one-fourth of the shift from last bear's favorable balance.

The biggest nightmares for Japan as the critical new year begins are that its exports are not expanding and its import needs will be higher than ever in 1954.

The rice crop failures will force importation of about 1,500,000 tons of grains early this year, the government has indicated. This unexpected drain on foreign exchange will offset the savings of the most austere import-limitation policy.

The prospect for Japan's purely domestic economy is no brighter. Many foreign economists believe the Japanese banks are so overloaned that a complete financial crash could result from any unforeseen shock.

What's Wrong with AUTO AUCTIONS

. . . not a thing—for out-of-town automobile dealers Auction prices are bottom-dollar prices. But you can't buy at an auction. They're only for dealers. And anyway, you couldn't trade-in the car you're now driving.

No, auto auctions aren't for you BUT AUCTION PRICES ARE! at Short Ford for the rest of the week. Here's why:

We have 50 top quality A-1 used cars and trucks that we don't want to sacrifice to out-of-town dealers at the auction. It doesn't seem right So through Saturday we're offering them right off our big lot at what we believe are auction prices or lower. Here are a few samples . . . Judge for yourself.

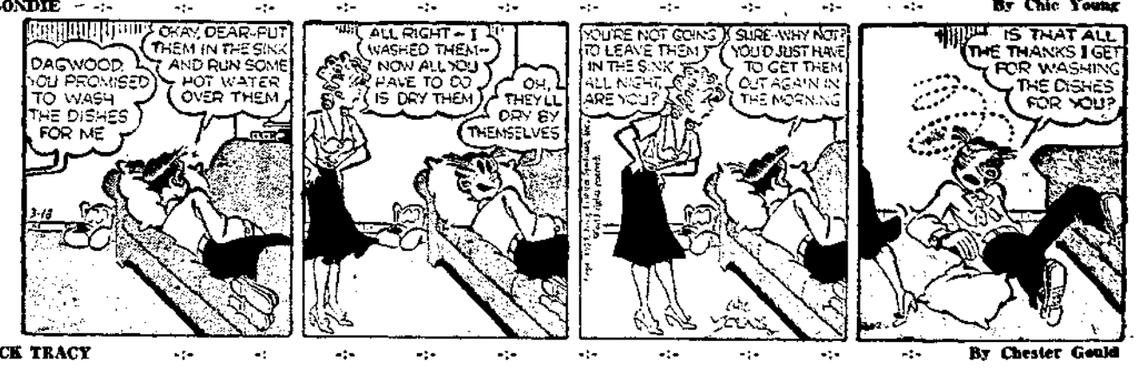
STEVE CANYON By Milton Caniff

MADAME MULDOON, WE WISH YOU TO STEP UP THE AMOUNT OF ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT YOU FLY TO OUR TRANSSHIPMENT POINTS...
YOU SUPPLY ME WITH ENOUGH PURE HEROIN TO BUILD UP ANY PURCHASING POWER AND I WILL BUY AND DELIVER THE ELECTRONIC DEVICES YOU SEND THE RUSSIANS FOR THEIR SUBMARINES...
...DO YOU NOT TRUST US? WE OBTAINED 70,000,000 U.S. DOLLARS FROM NARCOTICS IN 1952 — MORE IN 1953!
BUT YOU NEED MORE USERS IN NORTH AMERICA TO SWEETEN THE COMMUNIST PARTY TREASURY!
VERY WELL! I HAVE A NEW AMERICAN PILOT... BY BLACKMAILING HIM IN THE UNITED STATES I CAN DOUBLE-TIME HEROIN PICKUPS FROM HERE!
HOW NICE!

THE HEART OF JULIET JONES By Stan Drake

I'M SURE THE MORTGAGE ON YOUR HOME WILL GO THROUGH ALL RIGHT, AH... MIND IF I HAVE A WORD WITH YOU, HOWARD? PERSONAL MATTER.
GO RIGHT AHEAD, MASON, SEE YOU OUTSIDE, HOWARD!
OF COURSE, IT'S NONE OF MY BUSINESS, HOWARD, BUT WHEN A MAN PICKS A PARTNER, IT'S A LITTLE LIKE GETTING MARRIED. WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT MR. MOSBY?
KNOW ABOUT HIM...?
HE'S A CRACKAJACK SALESMAN... I GUESS... AND HE'S SURE HE CAN SELL LOTS OF MY INSTANT-DRYING ENAMEL. I IMAGINE THAT'S A PRETTY GOOD COMBINATION, DON'T YOU THINK?
I THINK-- WELL, BEST OF LUCK, HOWARD!

BLONDIE By Chic Young



DAGWOOD, YOU PROMISED TO WASH THE DISHES FOR ME
OKAY, DEAR-PUT THEM IN THE SINK AND RUN SOME HOT WATER OVER THEM
ALL RIGHT - I WASHED THEM-- NOW ALL YOU HAVE TO DO IS DRY THEM
OH, THEY'LL DRY BY THEMSELVES
YOU'RE NOT GOING TO LEAVE THEM IN THE SINK ALL NIGHT, ARE YOU?
SURE-WHY NOT? YOU'D JUST HAVE TO GET THEM OUT AGAIN IN THE MORNING
IS THAT ALL THE THANKS I GET FOR WASHING THE DISHES FOR YOU?

Stew Becoming No. 1 Dish for Menus in U.S.

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The No. 1 course on American menus these days is good, oldfashioned stew.

Who says so?

The nation's leading china and glass manufacturers, who can spot trends in menu planning from what they're selling.

There's an increasing demand, they say, for tureens, casseroles and other covered dishes for cooking or serving the cheaper meat cuts used in stews and soups.

Hundreds of china and glass manufacturers recently exhibited their 1954 wares in Pittsburgh, a glass-making center.

They say that the tureen, long popular with New Orleans and New England housewives, now is ordinary equipment on tables throughout the nation.

"Most people just can't afford steaks and chops," said J. Andrew Squires, one of the show managers. "They're putting away the frying pan in favor of the covered dish."

The cheaper tureens and casseroles at the exhibits will retail for $5 or less, when they come to the stores in the spring. Extra fancy ones go as high as $150 — a high price for dressing up an old-fashioned stew.

Most of the china and earthenware were of the conventional round and oval patterns. The many varieties of wrought iron and brass dishes and serving pieces which hit the market heavily last year will be fashionable again this year. One manufacturer is pushing a line of square plates, designed to flit into corners and save cupboard space. Another is featuring face-shaped plates, and still another is offering a complete set of dinnerware in the shape of sea shells.

The show-stopper was provided by a New York firm which is making real china guaranteed for a year against breakage. The salesman at the exhibit attracted a large, goup of buyers as he bounced dish after dish on the marble floor.

"See," he said, "won't chip, won't break." None did.

McCarthy Is Viewed as Problem Child Of Senate, Not of Ike's Administration

By ROY ROBERTS
President, Kansas City Star

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (NANA)— More than ever Senator Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin, the Red hunter, has become the "hot potato" of the Eisenhower Administration. The situation, thus far, grows worse rather than better as the weeks go on, despite all efforts to find some answer.

Ike takes it calmly, although he is accredited in Washington chit-chat with blowing off steam in old-fashioned army language at what he regarded as an unwarranted insult and affront to his old comrades in the most recent McCarthy episode. Ike may hold to that view but it can truthfully be said no one else does.

Back for a periodic check of the national picture, the writer found that—with the world situation tense and the domestic front showing strain as the readjustment from war to peace goes its pace — major problems which should be engrossing public attention because they so vitally concern everyone, were not uppermost in the thinking and conversation in the nation's capital. Instead, the amazing phenomenon of McCarthy and what to do about it, was the topic.

IF THE HYSTERIA of Washington and New York over McCarthy were typical over the country, the good Lord help the nation! It would seem ridiculous except it could be so serious, especially in possible impacts on government and legislation.

There are major political implications behind the entire McCarthy "cause celebre" the public may not get. The Democrats especially the left wing "ada'ers," try to insinuate that President Eisenhower could and should shut McCarthy up, if he wanted to. The hope, of course, is that those who are deeply offended and alarmed at the McCarthy tactics will blame the President and take it out on him.

In short, they are trying to drive a wedge into the Republican party and split it when it already has the slimmest margin in the House and no majority at all in the Senate. Then it would be goodbye to the bulk of the splendid Eisenhower program for the nation and a shoo-in for the left wingers, both in the congressional elections this year and the next presidential election in 1956. It's so obvious this is the tactic that it doesn't take an astute politician to find the tracks. But is the country as a whole getting the honest picture or a distorted one?

THE PLAIN FACT is that President Eisenhower couldn't shut Joe McCarthy up if he wanted to. No one could. Even if he could, he shouldn't. If the Wisconsin senator goes too far, as he frequently does, the President can slap his ears down on the specific issue as the public has witnessed. But it may be noticed he didn't mention McCarthy by name nor attempt to throw him out of the party, which is what the left-wing Democrats would like to see happen. For if such an open public break came, it wouldn't be just McCarthy but at least a half dozen other senators who would have to be given the presidential "bum's rush."

The world picture, including the national situation, is entirely too critical to turn the party responsible to the country for government in these serious times into a bunch of snarling wolfpacks.

Moreover, it is contrary to President Eisenhower's concept of our government and presidential prerogatives. The last two decades have witnessed an enormous growth in executive power until it was swollen clear out of proportion of basic concepts. Ike has sought to get back to a clear delineation of the three-way responsibility and powers of the executive, the legislative and the judicial branches of governments.

WHEN McCARTHY, for instance, attempts to intrude into the business of the executive by complaining over the dehorning of his chief friend in the state department, he is rebuffed with a curt answer that it is none of his business. In turn, there has been tremendous pressure on the White House to have it take the lead in setting up new rules to make congressional inquiries more fair, and certainly less effensive. The President, even though he personally may and unquestionably does feel such action would be highly desirable, does not regard such a course as in the province of the executive.

The plain fact is that McCarthy is the Senate's problem child, not that of the White House. If he goes too far, it's the business of the Senate to curb him, not the President. That goes for all congressional investigations, as well. If a new pattern of congressional inquisition is to be set up—and no one who studies the thing through would have such powers curbed to the point of destroying the useful purpose they often serve—it must be set up by the Senate or House, not by the White House. That's fundamental.

The public probably doesn't get Ike's position. Nothing new or startling really is needed. There are plenty of rules and regulations today set up by Congress, already, if the intent were carried out. One-man inquisitions—no matter how worthy the purpose—do not set well with the American sense of fair play. While chairman, Joe McCarthy, after all, is only one member of the committee. Unquestionably, the findings on pronouncements in investigations would carry far more weight if they were bipartisan. There are Democrats on every committee. Then how does Joe McCarthy get away with it

Well, largely, because he is the McCarthy and his colleagues know it. He is a buzz-saw with sharp, cutting edges. He has a popular issue in the Red hunt. At any attempt to curb his activities, all he has to do is shout "do you want to coddle communism" and, believe me, senators, conservative or left wingers, are oversensitive on that score with elections coming up.

THE INSIDE STORY of the Peress case was pretty well told by the exchange of statements—stupid blunders on the part of the army already being corrected and McCarthy losing his temper and going too far in abusing a war hero who wasn't a smart witness. That just about tells it.

But it has left an awful bad aftermath of feeling in Washington between the Senate and the executive branch of the government. It is distinctly not benefiting the picture. The President has proposed a splendid and needed program for the country in these critical days. It is a pity it has to go on a siding while the capital and the nation get all steamed up on something else.

Defendant Gulps Pins, Needles in Poison Candy Case

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The principal figure in the Lake Wales poison candy case is recovering here today from an emergency operation to remove several pins and needles from her stomach.

In a 3½-hour operation last night four open safety pins, four needles, six straight pins and a mass of 65 bobby pins were taken from the stomach of Mrs. Letha Della Overton, 49. Only one pin had pierced the stomach wall.

Her doctor said she came through the operation in "fairly good" condition.

She was taken to a hospital after suffering pains at a Tampa rest home.

Mrs. Overton is charged in a federal indictment with sending through the mail poisoned candy which made 20 persons in Lake Wales violently ill last December. All recovered.

2 Fined for Refusing To Fight Forest Fire

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Two men who refused to help fight a forest fire March 9 forfeited $13 collateral here yesterday.

Charges of refusing to fight the fire were brought against them in Wicomico County Peoples Court by Forest Supervisor Robert G. Dennis.

Dennis said Willie Ardis of Girdletree and Morris Dale of Snow Hill refused to fight a forest fire which burned 10 acres of woodland after having been placed under summons by a forestry department official.

Dennis reported Ardis and Dale said they had to go to work.

Good Management—Bad Politics

The taxation doctrine which has been explained by President Eisenhower in a desperate attempt to sway Congress on the eve of an important financial decision is simple and direct:

Congress is responsible for raising the revenue it spends.

Mr. Eisenhower isn't the first president to remind Congress of this fact.

The greatest single hazard which popular government must deal with—a hazard which keeps looming larger as the cost of collectivized government responsibility keeps mounting—is financial irresponsibility.

There is a continuous temptation to play both ends against the middle when the people who must make financial decisions are the same ones who must win favor at the polling places.

All that President Eisenhower has said in effect is that good management should be put ahead of good politics, because in the long run the only good politics is good management.

But he knows and his advisers know that most members of Congress do not think about the long run. They must seek re-election next fall, and they are starting their campaigns now.

There could be only one justification under the circumstances for a cut in taxes. That would be for Congress to make a corresponding cut in spending. The Eisenhower administration's attempts to cut back the rate of defense spending have been resisted strongly, however, by some of the same congressmen who want to reduce taxes.

It takes courage for a chief executive to go against the grain of his congressional support in a matter of this kind. It took courage for President Eisenhower's predecessors to deal with the same problem.

Franklin D. Roosevelt talked about the "rocks of a loose fiscal policy" while the national debt mounted from about 25 billion to ten times that much. It is almost forgotten now that in 1933 he was demanding a balanced budget.

Harry Truman had to stifle his misgivings about living beyond visible means and let the national debt continue to rise.

Dwight Eisenhower may finally be swamped by the same overwhelming pressure to conceal with inflation the consequences of spending more than is collected. But his taxation doctrine early in the beginning of his second year in the presidency is still what it was at the beginning of his first year:

Congress is responsible for raising as much revenue as it spends.

The Eisenhower administration knows what would be good politics and it knows what would be good management. It has chosen good management and is asking a majority of congressmen to make the same choice, against their own knowledge that most voters would welcome a cut in taxes.

Einstein at 75

When Albert Einstein reached his 75th birthday on March 14, greetings came from scientists in many parts of the world.

These men and women wanted to show their respect for a contemporary who has been called the "greatest living scientist." It is possible the 20th century may be remembered some day more for his deductions in the realm of theoretical physics than for all the activities of his contemporaries in the arts, economics, militarism and government.

Einstein occasionally dabbles in these fields too, although he has no special competence in them. He has achieved world stature by virtue of his ability to think abstractly in mathematics.

In all things where abstract thought tends to be an evasion of responsibility for making decisions, instead of the means of making decisions, Albert Einstein is just another child of the tempest-tossed 20th century.

He was hounded out of Germany by Hitler and is not without severe critics in the United States for his politics.

There seems to be a moral in his life as it passes the 75th milestone—that each of us has his field of special competency which he should work in diligently, regardless of all our disappointments and failures in other fields.

Cookies in Indochina

The roar and thud of mechanied death in Indochina will not be heard in the marble halls of Geneva next month but there will be echoes.

It never has been made any plainer than it is being made by the stepped-up rate of slaughter and destruction in Indochina that war is the violent phase of the same struggle for power waged more quietly by diplomats. The Asiatic nationalists trying to oust the remnants of western imperialism with the aid of Communist conspirators who intend, if successful, to set up an imperialism of their own, can use both guns and teacups.

The gun battle the Indochina rebels are waging with intensified fury to improve their bargaining position at Geneva in April is a far cry from cooke-pushing diplomacy, but its purpose is the same—to bring about the defeat of the French in their last stand in Asia.

New Look Defense

By David Lawrence

Eisenhower Policy Based on Calculated Risk

What is the biggest piece of news that the world would like to know today? It's whether or when there will be a large-scale war.

Does anybody in the United States government or the Soviet government know whether or when there will be a large-scale war? The answer is that each is convinced today that the destruction would be so great on both sides as to make such an attack absolutely improbable. Corroborative evidence on this comes from Moscow and Washington in various manifestations that add up to the aforesaid conclusion.

What, then, shall each country do by way of armament preparation? The answer is: All that is feasible to do within economic bounds so as to afford a defense against any kind of attack.

What is the policy of the United States? It is covered by the phrase the "New Look," which for obvious reasons has never been fully or specifically explained to the American public because, to do so, is to explain it also to the Russians.

What does the "New Look" generally involve? It means that President Eisenhower and the National Security Council have decided to take a "calculated risk." This is the assumption that large-scale war will not come within the next several years and that a defensive armament program adequate for retaliation can be economically maintained by the United States and its allies.

WHAT WAS the meaning of the speech by Secretary Dulles warning that "massive retaliation" would come if the free world were attacked? It was intended to warn the Soviet government that no ban on the use of the atomic bomb or the hydrogen bomb has been adopted and that the United States, with its allies, would retaliate with any weapons and in any place of its own choosing.

Did this mean that, if a "little war" broke out in Korea or Indo-China or the Near East, the "massive retaliation" policy would apply? Not at all. Each situation would be dealt with as the circumstances required.

It is not necessarily to be inferred that any atom bombs would be used in little wars, but neither is it to be assumed they would not be. Admiral Radford says it is desirable to keep the enemy guessing.

Is the armament of the United States adequate to carry on a "little war" and yet maintain enough strength for a big war if the "little war" became a big war? The answer to this question has not been determined by anyone.

Out of the uncertainty which it arouses has come the debate between the heads of the armed services as to whether they have been given enough money to buy the weapons and to raise the manpower necessary to achieve victory under those circumstances.

Has the United States decided to limit its military expansion to commitments it can fulfill instead of allowing its expansion to go to fantastic heights beyond the capacity of the American people to pay for? Limitation has been decided upon as a "calculated risk."

AMERICA CANNOT be expected to furnish the manpower for the rest of the world, nor can it do more than its proper share of the expense of manning and equipping other nations' armies.

Will the United States retaliate in case of a large-scale war without consulting its allies? It will retaliate instantly from American bases and from bases in Europe—like Spain perhaps — and from its own aircraft carriers in the North Atlantic and Mediterranean which carry atom bombs. The United States will retaliate also from bases like those in Britain or Canada only if arrangements have been worked out in advance for such instant retaliation.

When will Congress be consulted? In the case of an instant attack, the President is authorized already to repel instantly an invasion or attack on American forces anywhere in the world. He would be expected to submit to Congress as soon thereafter as practicable a resolution to ratify his action and authorize further military measures.

Would an attack on any of the many countries in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization permit the President without consulting Congress to retaliate instantly? The NATO treaty obligates the United States to enter the war instantly to defend any NATO country that is attacked. No previous authorization by Congress is needed if it be accepted as sound constitutional doctrine that a treaty supersedes the Constitution as the supreme law of the land.

THE RECENT DEBATE over the Bricker amendment showed that most senators apparently feel that the two-thirds vote which ratifies a treaty and authorizes American military action makes it unnecessary to ask the consent of both houses of Congress for a declaration of war.

What then did President Eisenhower mean when he told his press conference recently that America wasn't going to become involved in the Indo-China war and that, if we did, he would first ask authorization from Congress? The answer is that Indo-China is not covered by any mutual-defense treaty to which the United States is a party and that the situation is not even like Korea. This means that, if Eisenhower had been President in June 1950, he might have ordered American troops into action as an implied obligation of the United Nations charter but at the same time he would have asked for a formal resolution of ratification by Congress immediately afterward.

All this boils down to the confident belief that a "hot war" is not on the horizon, and may not be for a long time to come provided the United States maintains its armament program and its present policy of non-appeasement and resoluteness.

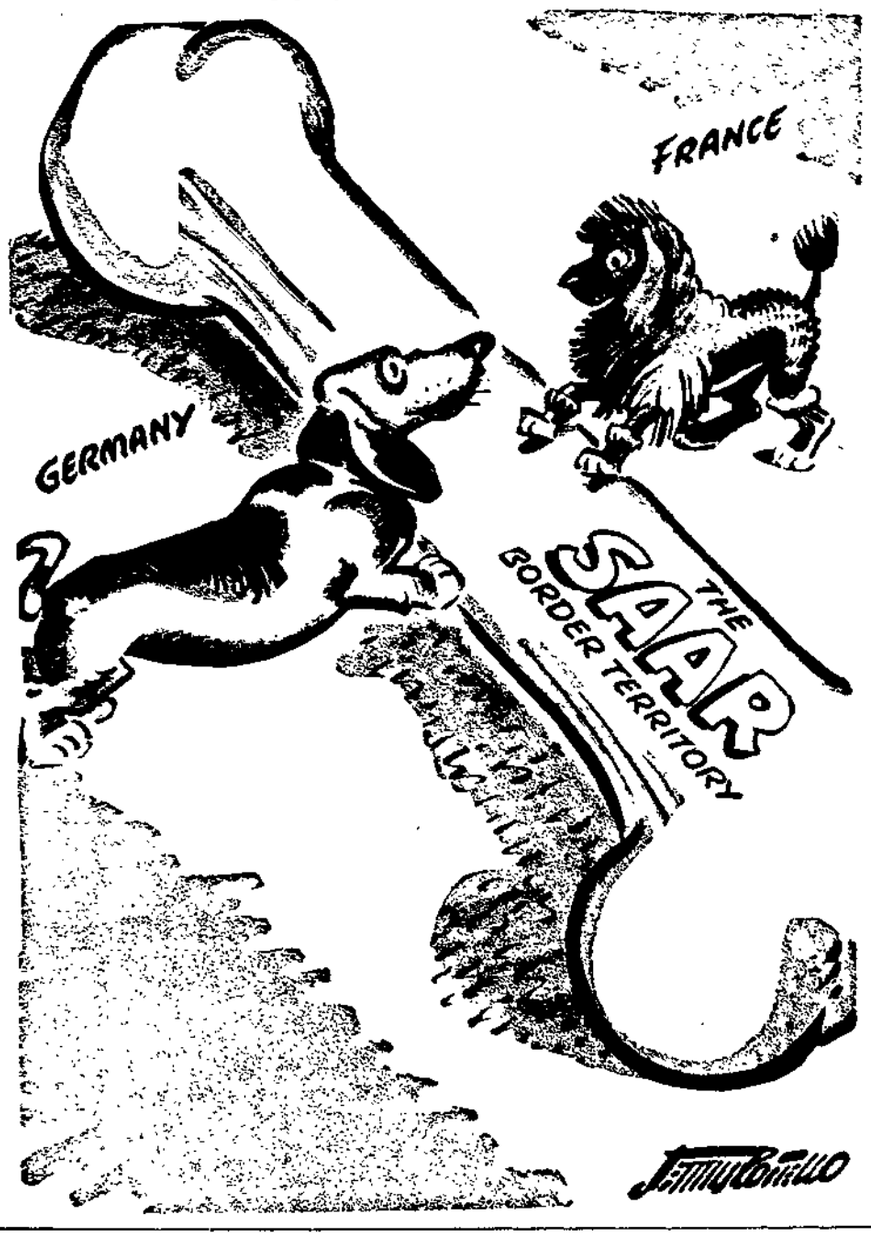
Bone of Contention



Red Infiltration Cunningly Plotted

By Raymond Moley

What has been popularly regarded as a hit-and-miss odyssey of Communists and fellow travelers in our government departments, agencies, missions, delegations, embassies, and U. N. offices can now be recognized as a definite and planned pursuit of power.

It is the story of a group of individuals, radicals as well as subversives, who knew where the fountainheads of power were and where they were shifting, and who made it their business to reach them.

In the period from 1933 to 1940 the main objectives of subversives were the infiltration and, so far as possible, the control of the purely domestic agencies of government.

Almost at the outset of the Roosevelt administration a number of people whose names are now indisputably associated with communism got themselves into the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

THERE THEY WORKED to impose the Soviet pattern upon American agriculture.

With the Wagner Act and the creation of the NLRB, the labor target came into range. When a nest was discovered and the occupants thereof driven out, they flocked to other alphabetical agencies. Civil service regulations in those new agencies were light or nonexistent, and employment was easily obtained.

Then the shadow of war came, and it became apparent that the attention of Roosevelt, Wallace and others would be diverted from making America over to the vast stage of the world.

WHEN THE WAR agencies were created, treason moved into them. Here the evil band could wield unheard-of influence over domestic affairs and try their hand at world affairs as well.

Even then there were far-sighted subversives who realized that with the end of war our concerns in the international field would be more advantageous to exploit. Harry Dexter White and Alger Hiss led the way. Many others followed.

Since 1946 it has been the vast bureaucracy that extends from Washington to all parts of the world that demands watching. With open doors, the U. N. took in untold numbers of these people.

For citizens who may have lost perspective in the day-by-day and month-by-month accounts of the pursuit of subversives by congressional committees and by the agencies of justice, James Burnham's new book, "The Web of Subversion," offers a clear and readable summary of the history of the infiltration of the federal government.

BURNHAM SPENT months going through the vast bulk of published hearings related to this story, a task beyond most of us, gleaned the important facts, and has woven them into a gripping account.

In "The Web of Subversion" we see the calculated seizure of important policy-making spots in the government and the complicated operations of those various "cells" which have so far been brought to light.

We see the machinations of the "Ware cell," the "Silvermaster cell" the "Perlo cell," and a fourth group operated, or, as Burnham puts it, "handled" by Chambers.

These cells had their interconnecting links and all were responsive to a sinister authority, the exact nature of which has so far been only partially revealed, or are we at all certain that even a fractional number of the cells has been named and identified. It may take years to bring out the entire account, even with vigorous congressional committees and the FBI on the job.

Burnham has made a clear picture of what is available to date.

Thoughts After March 15

By TRUMAN TWILL

When they ask us what to do about tax reform—and that will be the day!—we shall come forth with an idea that will curl their hair.

We have it right here with us now, ready to go. It is called the Twill Easy Reference Goose-Plucking Scheme.

It is based on the behavior of human beings, and this is the way it would work:

Each citizen of the United States would be given a Tax Rating when he or she becomes old enough to vote. This rating would be reviewed automatically every two years.

Since the only legitimate purpose of taxation is to collect wherewithal to run the government, despite all the ideas that have been sneaked into it from time to time, the tax ratings would be adjustable up or down by issuance of an executive order.

Their relative bearing on approximate income, however, would be determined by Congress and ratified by state and local authority.

If you have stuck with the idea this long, here is what would distinguish it from all other tax-collection arrangements:

A taxpayer would discharge his entire year's obligation to all tax collectors in one transaction. If he had a Fat Cat rating, which would be the highest, he would pay $1,000,000 a year, period and paragraph. No more. No less.

Next highest rating would be Big Bucks. All taxpayers in this category would doke in $750,000 a year and no questions asked.

Third highest would be the No Pain rating. The tariff here would be a cool half million, payable on the line in one or more installments, up to four.

Under No Pain would be all the other ratings, down to $100 a year for—end of the line. Below that no one would pay anything, on the sound supposition that it would cost more to collect it than it would be worth.

Ratings would be worn like auto license tags in plain sight. They would change color each year, so everybody would know who was paid up and who was chiseling.

There would be no more malarkey about justice, equity and legal hocus-pocus. It would be acknowledged by one and all what one and all know to be true—that the purpose of taxing is to collect money, not to split hairs between what is right and what is wrong.

The only way a taxpayer would be able to change his own rating would be on direct appeal to the nearest tax court. On the other hand, the court could change anyone's rating on evidence that he had increased his ability to contribute to the support of Uncle Samson.

It would be implicit in this arrangement that the tax spenders would split up the take according to a formula calling for one-half of each tax dollar to go to the federal government, one quarter to state government and one quarter to local government. Thereafter, the boys could fight among themselves for the finer divisions necessary to keep things running.

Tax years would start on birthdays. Since tax payments would be determined by ratings instead of arithmetical sleight-of-hand, there would be no connection whatever with calendar years, fiscal years, or any of the other devices now used to muddy the waters and keep things in a state of confusion.

This would have all the merit of Henry George's famed "single tax" without its one fatal weakness, which was its connection with justice. When taxes get mixed up with justice, trouble starts. There is no justice in plucking a goose, and there is no justice in plucking a taxpayer.

Fraternity Compromise Idea

By MARK DANA

Under recent administrative orders, the exclusive "eating clubs" at Princeton University have now received every sophomore into membership, thereby terminating a practice covering many years whereby some young men were humiliated by scorned neglect.

Eating clubs at Princeton take the place of fraternities, and young men whose racial, family, economic or other attributes did not win approval of the highly selective organizations had a lowly social campus status.

It was to end such discrimination that orders went out that all second-year men had to be taken into the clubs or the clubs would be disbanded. No doubt the plan, now initiated, will work out much better than some of the more snooty upper classmen have feared.

A great many high schools and colleges have abolished fraternities altogether, on the ground that they encouraged more snobbishness and created more social distinctions than a campus warrants. At some other schools, local chapters have given up their charters voluntarily, or have been deprived of them, because of racial or religious membership crises.

The merits and demerits of the whole fraternity idea can be argued at long length, to little avail. On one side is the contention that a fraternity bid is an honor stimulating high achievements and another contention that a campus does and should mirror social distinctions inevitable after graduation. On the other side is the view that fraternities develop undue social lines, and dilute jurisdiction of school administrations.

The Princeton plan may resolve some fraternity problems, although it cannot be successful if any members of the eating clubs ever get an intimation that they were admitted reluctantly and are not really wanted. No student of pride would remain a member under such unhappy circumstances.

Camp Kilmer Incident

The news story that Roy Cohn, chief counsel to the McCarthy Committee, has been ordered to take his June National Guard training at Camp Kilmer, commanded by Brig. Gen. Zwicker, may or may not be correct, but it makes the following imaginary camp incident easy to fancy.—Ed note.)

An Aide—General, he's here.

Gen. Zwicker—Who?

Aide—Roy Cohn.

Gen. Zwicker—Where did I hear that name before? Don't tell me. I want the fun of recalling it myself.

Aide—What shall I do with him, since there are no tests under real shellfire on the schedule?

Gen. Zwicker—I want Cohn treated as fairly as anybody else.

Aide—Will you put that in writing for me?

Gen. Zwicker—Yes, and I expect Cohn will want it in writing for HIM! How does he look?

Aide—He seems the sharp, self-assured and combative type.

Gen. Zwicker—You're telling me!

-:-

Aide—He must have a little trouble with his teeth. The first thing he said was that he was looking for a dentist.

Gen. Zwicker—Oh, no! Not again!!!

Aide—He arrived light, except for a trunk.

Gen. Zwicker—Have the trunk opened and inspected! You never can tell how Joe McCarthy may get into any situation.

Aide—Suppose I open it and Joe is really inside?

Gen. Zwicker—Bring him here at once I have a particularly tough kitchen-police assignment this week!

A Medical Officer (interrupting)—Sorry to interrupt, but what about that matter of selecting a man on whom to try out that new canned army ration—the one about which there is so much suspicion?

Gen. Zwicker—Mister, I'VE GOT THE MAN FOR IT!

Gen. Zwicker—Did you have any special talk with him?

Aide—He asked me what time it was but demanded a yes or no answer.

Gen. Zwicker—How do you size him up here? Do you think he will be a disturbing factor?

Aide—I can't tell until he meets you and you BOTH HAVE TO SALUTE!

The most fabulous yacht in the world is being turned out for Aristotle S. Onassis, a Greek who bought the Bank at Monte Carlo and also the Casino. It will have a sunken swimming pool, a movie theater, a lapis lazuli smoking room and a modern business office with spiral staircases. On deck will be an airplane, a speedboat and a sailing craft. Mr. Onassis will have practically everything on a boat that can drive a man back to dry land screaming. The yacht will cost millions, and we assume the man was on either "Strike It Rich," "Double or Nothing" or the Groucho Marx program.

And He Went a Little Farther

By REV. JEARL J. BARR
Pastor of Christian and Missionary Alliance Church

"And he (Jesus) went a little farther, and fell on his face, and prayed saying . . . 'not as I will but as thou will'."—Matthew 26:39.

Christ, who is the example of every true Christian, found it necessary to pray. Not only did He have need of a personal prayer life but He called on Peter, James and John to enter into a place of prayer with Him. As they began to pray, "He (Jesus) went a little farther and fell on His face and prayed."

If Jeus, who knew no sin, had to go aside and take time to pray, how much greater is the need for His children who are seeing sin on every side and who even are in many cases even overtaken by sin.

God would have all of us to go a little farther in our experience of prayer. To do this it will mean that we will have to in some cases not only not do the things that we know are wrong but often let some important things go undone in order to find time to go a little farther in our daily devotion to God.

PRAYER. O God our Father, we pray that in season of Lent we might learn the secret of fellowshipping with Thee and the joy of going a little farther in saying with Christ, "not as I will but as Thou wilt. Amen.
